Columbia Museum of Art, Main & Hampton Streets, Columbia. Lipscomb Family Galleries, Through Jan. 6, 2013 - "Mark Rothko: The Decisive Decade 1940-1950". Featuring 37 works including paintings, watercolors and works on paper drawn, this exhibition is largely from the collection of the National Gallery of Art in Washington, DC. This is the first significant exhibition of Mark Rothko's work to be on display in South Carolina. The exhibition brings to Columbia and South Carolina the art of a modern American master, providing a special opportunity for everyone in the region. Visitors are absorbed by Rothko's powerful and mystical style of painting. In addition, the accompanying catalogue explores a period of Rothko's development the 1940s that has received little attention and yet had a profound effect on his late career and brings new scholarship to art history. "This is not an exhibition that needs to justify its existence," the artist's son, Christopher Rothko, said. "On the contrary, the only thing that needs to be explained is its tardiness, because within the realm of Rothko's oeuvre, the works in this exhibition are the key to everything. Everything." The exhibition is presented through the generosity of First Citizens Bank. Gallery 15, Through Dec. 16 - "Face Jugs: African-American Art and Ritual in 19th-Century South Carolina". Featuring a stunning selection of unique SC stoneware vessels, this exhibition marks the first time in almost 30 years that a major American art museum brings together a definitive collection of African-American face jugs, borrowed from leading institutions and private collectors. This exhibition further illustrates the depth and breadth of African-American contributions to the rich artistic legacy of our state. "Face jug" is a term coined by decorative arts historians to refer to an African-American pottery type created in the South (most notably in present-day Aiken County, SC) between 1850 and 1880.

The small, alkaline-glazed stoneware vessels possess facial features-usually wide-eyes and bared teeth-fashioned of kaolin, a locally sourced clay. The face jugs were functional objects that covertly represented the angst and difficulties associated with being an enslaved individual on a Southern plantation environment. These 23 vessels celebrate the aesthetic power of this potent art form and suggest new ways to consider their uses and, perhaps more importantly, their cultural meanings within a community of Americans who lived within challenging circumstances. The exhibition is presented in partnership with the University of South Carolina's McKissick Museum and generously supported by Charlton Hall Galleries and Susan Thorpe and John Baynes. Wachovia Education Gallery, Through Jan. 6, 2013 - "Alchemy of Art". University of South Carolina students studied the science behind the art with Assistant Professor David Voros to create historically inspired artworks that concentrated on age old traditions. They made their own paints, gesso, and glue to create their works of art. Through this new program, "Alchemy of Art," children (ages of 8 - 12) also learned the same processes and techniques that were taught in Voros' class to create their own paint studies, frescos, encaustics, and paintings during a weeklong summer camp. BB&T Focus Gallery, Ongoing - "Southern Traditions," will showcase the richness and diversity of the Museum's collection of furniture, ceramics, silver, basketry, sculpture and paintings by artists native to, or active in, South Carolina and its surrounding states. Among the works on view will be fine silver made by Charleston and Columbia silversmiths; a sweet grass basket by Mary Jackson (SC, born 1945); wood carvings by Edgar Alexander McKillop (NC, 1879-1950); and paintings by Charles Fraser (SC, 1782-1860), Xanthus Russell Smith (SC, 1839-1929), William Harrison Scarborough (SC, 1812-1871), William Aiken Walker (SC, 1838-1921), among others. Galleries 5 & 6, Ongoing - "Modern & Contemporary Art from the Collection". Celebrating some of the CMA's greatest hits, this exhibition features over 30 paintings, drawings, photographs and sculptures from the Museum's collection that have not been on view recently. It offers the visitor experiences both serious and sensual and is designed to both entertain and enlighten. Notable works included are by Jasper Johns, Howard Thomas, Sally Mann and Edward Ruscha, whose famous image of the Hollywood Hills (on view) has become a staple of the art world. Ray Taylor Fair Gallery, Ongoing - Featuring a new and permanent installation of its ancient art collection. The installation includes approximately 50 objects that introduce the major ancient civilizations from the Mediterranean and Near East. Examples of the earliest form of writing from 12th century B.C. Mesopotamia, are shown next to Egyptian scarabs and Greek painted vessels. The world of the ancient Romans is represented by 2nd century glass and bronze items and portrait sculpture. Many of these works have not been seen since the Museum moved to its location on Main Street in 1998. The collection has grown over the last several years with the donation of 12 fine Roman sculptures in 2002 from Pennsylvania collector Dr. Robert Y. Turner.
