With social and environmental concerns rising, fixing offers a craft-centered response to our increasingly disposable commodity culture. The works on view in "The Future of Fixing" offer a range of propositions for improving the future through repair - from fixing an object, like Humade's New Kintsugi kit, to fixing the entire design system, like the Royal Society of Art's The Great Recovery project, which offers a re-designed production process to minimize waste. The Folk Art Center of the Southern Highland Craft Guild, Blue Ridge Parkway Milepost 382, Asheville. Main Gallery, Through Nov. 6 - "Fellowship," featuring over fifty members of the Southern Highland Craft Guild showcase works of collaboration — dispelling the individual ego and finding value in community. The upstairs main gallery will feature over thirty pieces, crafted and fused through multiple hands. It is not often to find artists crammed together in a studio, piecing together ideas of varied elements to form a masterpiece. The notion that creatives generally lead isolated lives, perhaps even deemed 'lone wolves', is evident in celebrity of craft media, established through collector bases and patronage. However, at the root of artistic expression, makers often tap into their human need for connection. Permanent Collection Gallery, Ongoing - "Craft Traditions: The Southern Highland Craft Guild Collection". The Guild's Permanent Collection is comprised of approximately 2400 craft objects and dates from the late 19th century to present. Beginning with a donation from Frances Goodrich in 1931, the Permanent Collection serves the Guild's mission of craft conservation and education. This new installation will feature over 200 works that highlight our holdings in traditional art: woodcarving, pottery, dolls, basketry, weavings and furniture. The subject of this ongoing exhibition is craft history — that of the Southern Highland Craft Guild and the Studio Craft Movement. Hours: daily from 9am-6pm. Contact: 828/298-7928 or at (www.southernhighlandguild.org).
