Work by William H. Miller

Franklin G. Burroughs • Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum, 3100 South Ocean Blvd., beside Springmaid Beach, Myrtle Beach. Through Apr. 22 - "William H. Miller: What You See Is What You Get". Miller is a high-energy guy. Besides being a prolific artist - creating abstract works that merge two strikingly different media, traditional painting and digital art -- Miller is a gallery owner, a mentor to other artists and a tireless advocate for the arts. Following the opening of William H. Miller Studios and Fine Art in 2015, he encouraged other galleries and studios to move into the area, sparking the growth of a downtown Myrtle Beach arts district; and in early 2017 he spearheaded the creation of First Friday Art Walks. Through Apr. 22 - "Steven Bleicher: The Kings Highway". Author J.R.R. Tolkien wrote in "The Fellowship of the Rings", "Not all those who wander are lost." He combines this viewpoint with his travels and observations along our own Kings Highway. Through Apr. 8 - "Collection Connections: A Visual Exploration of Southern Heritage". The Franklin G. Burroughs-Simeon B. Chapin Art Museum was born of Southern heritage in 1997 with a mission to preserve and promote art for this region's community, culture and landscape. That mission and range continue growing, reaching new heights through a new exhibition. Through 37 works from more than 20 artists, this array of paintings, pastels, photographs, prints, film, basketry, drawings, maps and sculpture from the Museum's collections helps to cultivate a greater understanding and appreciation of the uniqueness of Southern culture: such avenues as music, food, landscape and the

Spartanburg Art Museum, Chapman Cultural Arts Center, 200 East St. John Street, Spartanburg. Through Mar. 4 - "unnatural history". The works in this exhibit are portals backwards or forwards (or sometimes both at once) in geologic time, offering visions from before, after, and during the tenancy of humankind. Dioramas of cast resin depicting bizarre plants and animate slime suggest a post-human period wherein nature reclaims the planet. Artificial geodes made of oil paint, latex, foam, and soil transport viewers into a distant future where industrial waste has become fossil evidence of human activity. Abstract wall sculptures use motor and crude oil as raw material in the depiction of the vast, intricate industrial landscapes of the near future, while wooden mosaics made of materials salvaged from hurricane-affected cities and reconstructed glass objects found on beaches suggest a possible utopian remedy to decline, decay, and disintegration. Overall, the exhibition underscores and illustrates the many ways in which the technological processes of mass mining, manufacturing, resource extraction, and large-scale industrial agriculture have altered not only the present, but also the future history of our planet. Artists featured in the exhibit include: Kara Artman, Jon Duff, Inguna Gremzde, Cecilia Ho, Stephanie Morissette, Laura Petrovich-Cheney, and Kathleen Thum. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Sun., 1-5pm; and till 9pm on 3rd Thur. of each month. Closed on national holidays.
