North Carolina Arts Council

Fifty years of leadership

The Arts in North Carolina and COVID-19

Even though participation in the arts has been greatly disrupted by the coronavirus pandemic, and artists and arts organizations severely impacted, our network across North Carolina is responding in a myriad of creative ways that demonstrate the power of the arts to connect, cope, and heal. We at the North Carolina Arts Council want to do our part to call attention to important action items and resources that will benefit the state's arts industry. For further information visit (<https://www.ncarts.org/arts-north-carolina-and-covid-19>).

North Carolina Artist Relief Fund
Location: North Carolina

This fund has been created to support creative individuals who have been financially impacted by gig cancellations due to the outbreak of COVID-19. Artists and arts presenters in North Carolina can apply for emergency funding. Apply at this link (<https://vaeraleigh.org/artist-relief-fund>).

COVID-19 and the arts in South Carolina

As with the rest of state government, the South Carolina Arts Commission remains open and serving our constituents. Our team continues working diligently to respond to your needs. During this time, the best way to reach us is via email. We will resume in-person business as soon as state/local authorities and public health experts deem it safe to do so. For further info visit (<https://www.southcarolinaarts.com/covid-19-response/>).

CERF+ Emergency Relief Fund

Artists who have suffered from a recent, career threatening emergency, such as an illness, accident, fire or natural disaster, can apply for funding.

CERF+ also has a list of resources (<https://cerfplus.org/coronavirus/>) centered around the pandemic.

For more information visit (<https://cerfplus.org/get-relief/apply-for-help/craft-emergency-relief-fund/>).

The National Endowment for the Arts is open for business. Our staff, while working remotely for the next several weeks, is available to you via phone or email, as usual. We look forward to receiving and reviewing our next round of grant applications in the coming weeks. We're also evaluating our grant application deadlines and may adjust them to help applicants dealing with the effects of COVID-19.

We know that there are more than five million Americans who make their livelihoods in the broader arts and cultural sector across the country and are potentially at risk. We also know that the arts provide comfort, resilience, wisdom, and the means for self-expression and connection, perhaps even more so during challenging times such as these.

We have FAQs and relief resources and opportunities related to COVID-19 available on our website at (<https://www.arts.gov/covid-19-resources-for-artists-and-arts-organizations>), and we will continue to update these sections with new information as it becomes available.

Editorial COMMENTARY

by Tom Starland, Editor and Publisher

It Takes A Pandemic

People like to say "It Takes a Village" to raise a child, to build a town, or to pull off any project. In this case, It takes a Pandemic to bring people together - at least most of us.

This COVID-19 Pandemic has taken the visual art community to its knees, by closing galleries, art museums, and shutting down art festivals, but we're not down yet. Like the creative folks they are, many have found ways to still serve the public, that is mostly locked down at home, by providing art on websites, on social media, in virtual exhibitions, delivering work to your door, offering curb side service, and now in some cases access, one or two people at a time. It's not what some would call anything like normal, but it's what we can do for now.

People who have been downright lazy when it comes to Internet shopping are all over it now, as it's one of the only ways to reach many people in the safety of their homes. The no more than 3 people in a space at a time probably isn't that much different for most commercial galleries on a regular basis - unless it's a reception or the ever popular art walk. It will likely be a while before people are willing to get elbow to elbow with the general public again. Galleries may have to get used to the old-fashion way of dealing with their customers one by one.

But these creative folks won't take this Pandemic sitting still for very long - like in Charleston, SC, a city used to dealing with disasters, earthquakes, hurricanes, flooding, mass shootings, and now a Pandemic - again.

As I write this commentary the Charleston Visual Art Community is coming together to benefit the Food & Beverage Community and Local Farmers with the About Artists for Feed the Need art auction. A wonderful opportunity for all of us to help! An auction began on Sunday, April 26 at 5pm and closes Saturday, May 2 at 8pm. See the work being donated and make your bids at (<https://www.32auctions.com/artistsfor-feedtheneed>) or you can purchase a work at a set price, which many people have already done. The Feed the Need folks are hoping to raise $20,000, but as of this writing on Apr. 26, just a few hours after the auction began, $59,139.00 of artwork has already been sold to people who couldn't wait to see if they were going to be the top bidder on May 2. And, there are lots of great works available.

It's sometimes an over used tradition in Charleston, going to the visual art community and asking them to help raise funds for various causes. Especially when they are usually the last to get help when they need it. Usually the performing arts community gets helped first in Charleston and then what little is left over goes to the non-profit side of the visual arts, but little if any goes to the commercial side of the visual art community. I've yet to see the local orchestra, theatre company or dance company offer their talents to the highest bidder or sometimes the only bidder during one of Charleston's disasters or for a good cause that isn't their own. But the visual artists keep giving. They complain from time to time, but they keep giving.

I have a policy of not mentioning one of these art auction without the names of every participating artists and that holds for us too. They are: Francis Sills, Kris Manning, Paul Ferrari, Robin Joseph, Scot Rittenbaum, Susan Trott, Alana M Knuff, Amanda McLeon, Angela Trotta Thomas, Ann Balzac Keane, Anne Blair Brown, Anne Brownyard (2), Anne Darby Parker, Anne Jervy Rhett, Beth McLean, Beth Tockey Williams, Betsy McDonald (2), Betty Anglin Smith, Brenda Orcutt, Rrian Rego, Carmen Osborn (2), Claudia Boyce, Colleen Parker, Connie Rigdon, Cynthia Huston, Daphne vom Baur, Dee Beard Dean, Dorothy Shain, Eleanor Parker, Elizabeth O'Neill Verner, Fallon Peper, Fer Caggiano, Fred Jamar, Ginny Versteegen, Gloria Smith. Robert Lange Studios in Charleston, SC, Offers a Group Show of Contemporary Paintings

Robert Lange Studios in Charleston, SC, will present Red Ribbon, a Group show of Contemporary Paintings, on view from May 1 - 22, 2020. A reception is planned for May 1, from 6-8pm, but keep in mind due to the COVID-19 Pandemic this exhibit may have to be seen virtually on the gallery's website and no reception will be held.

Robert Lange Studios (RLS) has asked twenty world renowned artists to take a single piece of red ribbon as their painting inspiration. Each artist will create one painting that exemplifying their specific style, genre and subject matter.

These annual themed group shows at Robert Lange Studios have been developed to connect artists from the Charleston area with not only collectors but also other painters practicing in their field. Included in the show are works by: Candice Bohannon, Chambers Austelle, Erik Johnson, George Ayers, Jessica Gordon, Joshua Flint, June Stratton, Kerry Simmons, Matt Bober, Mia Bergeron, Michelle Jader, Nicola Johnson, Patrick Kramer, Patrick Nevins, Robert Lange, Sandra Flood, Timur Akhriev, Anne Marie Kornachuk, Natalie Featherston, Karen Paavola, and Anthony Waichulis.

Work by Anne-Marie Kornachuk

Gallery owner and artist, Robert Lange says of this new body of work, "Each artist was sent a red envelope and inside was a yard of satin red ribbon. They then were asked to do anything they wanted with it and I can't wait to see what they decided to create."

For the show Lange has created a large scale close-up painting of a honey bee on a flower, a subject matter he has painted previously, however, this piece has a red ribbon wrapped around the entire painting as if it is a present, "a gift," for the viewer. Lange said, "The natural world is so precious and these moments where you get to experience something like a bee on a flower are meant to be cherished. It's truly a gift to us all that we get to live in this world."

Another trompe l'oeil artist that was invited to the show is Patrick Kramer, who recently began to extensively incorporate elements of trompe l'oeil into many of his hyperrealist works. Each subject is very personal for the artist in both selection and execution, for the show he created a perfect replica of a burnt stack of letters wrapped in a red ribbon. He says, "Being a perfectionist, I have always been considering art as an outlet for my slightly obsessive personality. I studied painting in college, and experimented with hyperrealism as a way of perfecting my craft. I never intended to pursue the style, but found it hard to give up, as it suited my nature."

After the success of numerous group exhibits, Lange says, "The audience here in Charleston and I think online in general has a desire for diversity, so group shows are a great way to give audiences a well edited, yet varied group of paintings."

Artists like figurative realist Kerry Simmons, who created a painting of a single female wearing antlers that have been criss-crossed by pieces of red ribbon. She said, "It's always a challenge but more so an inspiration to work within a theme."

Anne Marie Kornahuck, recently named one of the top 16 female contemporary artists by American Art Collector, is best known for painting realist figures flowing in fabric. She, like Simmons, created a figurative piece for the show. She says, "I set out to use the red ribbon as focal point, a decorative embellishment and as a mysterious element."

Robert Lange Studios is a gallery space run by artist and gallery owners Megan and Robert Lange. As such, it is dedicated to the development of an on-going dialogue between artists from a diverse range of artistic disciplines at differing levels of their careers.

Robert Lange Studios has been voted Best Art Gallery in Charleston four years by the Charleston City Paper and Nathan Durfee has received the award for Best Visual Artist. In addition, the gallery was voted Best Art Gallery 2015 by Charleston Living Magazine. Gallery owners Megan and Robert Lange are committed to providing a forum for art based on individuals, subjective style and awareness. This dedication has created a reputation for the gallery of consistently finding new and interesting artists that stand out for their imagination and distinctive personal touch. The gallery is a member of the former Charleston Fine Art Dealers' Association, French Quarter Gallery Association, and currently Redux Contemporary, and the Halsey Institute.

USC Upstate in Spartanburg, SC, Offers Virtual Student Exhibition

The University of South Carolina Upstate in Spartanburg, SC, is presenting COLLIDE: 2020 Art Education Student Exhibition, on view in the Curtis R. Harley Gallery, through May 15, 2020. Due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, the exhibit will be presented virtually on Facebook and YouTube.

This exhibition of paintings, drawings, illustrations and sculpture, is showcasing the work of seven graduating Art Education students preparing to enter the field of teaching. The exhibition can be seen on the USC Upstate Gallery Art Facebook page. Presentation material will include videos each student created to discuss their process and as well their influences on YouTube.

As part of pre-service training, Art Education majors at USC Upstate learn how to present their work in the capstone requirement for a group exhibition that showcases work created in studio and art education courses. The art education majors exhibit is presented in the Curtis R. Harley Gallery, and a companion exhibit of art education lesson plans for teaching k-12 is showcased in the FOCUS Gallery. For 2020 the exhibit is titled "Collide", a word describing energy and collectivity.

The 2020 exhibiting students believe the title reflects how ideas, techniques and personal creativity collide with the world around them. There seven art educators showcasing their work are, Mia Miller, Natalie Klimovich, Elizabeth Medlin, Maggie Gilmore, Harlea Martin, Candace Otten and Rachel Cecere.

Students were asked to give a quote on their ideas of art as they prepare for teaching: Mia Miller - "To me, art is relaxation. Art is being able to express my views of both myself and my culture." Natalie Klimovich - "When I create art, I pay attention to the emotion it creates." Elizabeth Medlin - "Art is a way to make my mark on the world and to commemorate myself and the things that are important to me, whether it be commemorating a time in life or a significant issue in society." Maggie Gilmore - "My subject matter is usually centered on family/friends, animals, and flowers." Harlea Martin- "Experimentation with media is a key component to my artistic style, my artwork is inconsistent and forever changing depending upon what materials I choose to use. Candace Otten - "I found that through creating an art work, I could allow my feelings to come to the surface in a healthy way. Rachel Cecere - "My decision making process for my artwork may seem chaotic to some people. However, there is usually a clear idea in my head of what the result will be and then I sketch it out.

The 2020 Art Education Exhibit has embraced the virtual world by presenting their work through the University Gallery Facebook page and the USC Upstate Art Education YouTube Channel. This year's theme for the exhibit "Collide" is never more fitting than in our present crisis. The art education students have found themselves colliding with creativity, survival and practicality. These skills will serve them well when they enter their future art classrooms.

Dr. Mary Lou Hightower is the Coordinator of Art and Director of Art Education at USC Upstate.

Please visit the Facebook link to view the exhibition: USC Upstate Gallery Art at (<https://www.facebook.com/USCUpstate-GalleryArt/>) and student videos on YouTube at (<https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCDK9-NTesUiWyG8IX02tR3w>).

The University of South Carolina Upstate is a regional comprehensive university offering more than 40 undergraduate and graduate programs in the liberal arts and sciences, business administration, nursing, and education. Located along the I-85 corridor in Spartanburg between Greenville and Charlotte, USC Upstate is ranked by

Work by Maggie Gilmore

US News & World Report at #2 among Top Public Schools. It serves as a major talent producer for the region, with more than 6,000 students, approximately 1,300 new graduates a year, and nearly 30,000 alumni, many of whom live and work in the state. The USC Upstate Spartans compete in 17 NCAA Division 1 sports as a member of the Big South Conference. USC Upstate sponsors three galleries, two on campus, one on Main street in Spartanburg and a campus-wide collection of monumental sculpture.

For further information check our SC Institutional Gallery listings or visit (www.uscupstate.edu). Contact Jessica Blais, Associate Vice Chancellor for Strategic Communications and Marketing USC Upstate) by e-mail at (jbblais@uscupstate.edu) or call 864-503-5235 or Jane Nodine, University Gallery Director USC Upstate by e-mail at (jnodine@uscupstate.edu) or call 864/503-5838.

The deadline each month to submit articles, photos and ads is the 24th of the month prior to the next issue. This will be May 24th for the June 2020 issue and June 24 for the July 2020 issue. After that, it's too late unless your exhibit runs into the next month. But don't wait for the last minute - send your info now. And where do you send that info? E-mail to (info@carolinaarts.com).

Artists Collective | Spartanburg, SC, Launches Website to Exhibit and Sell Art

In reaction to COVID-19 and the demand for online art exhibitions and sales, Artists Collective | Spartanburg has launched a new website at Shops.ArtistsCollectiveSpartanburg.org that features the work of local artists.

"This is something we have wanted to do, and COVID-19 pushed us to quickly develop and bring online a website that showcases the work of our members and gives the public an easy way to make purchases," Collective Chair Beth Regula said. "We have more than 50 members and all of them have been invited to 'set up shop' on this website. It's one of their membership benefits. Plus, it's a great benefit to the patrons of the arts, giving them an online way to see the work and purchase it, avoiding possible coronavirus exposure."

Normally, the art venue is open to the public Tuesday-Saturday, 10am-4pm, however, it is now closed to the public because of the coronavirus pandemic.

The new website is set up so that each artist has his or her own "shop." When visiting one of these shops, the patron can see photos of art by the artist. In addition, there is information on pricing, materials, availability, shipping, and the artist. Currently, the website features jewelry, glass fusion, miniatures, mixed media, paintings, and photographs. Payment can be made by credit or debit card.

All members have the option to have a free shop on the website, and so far several have established their presence with more expected to go virtual as the site gains popularity.

"It's a very user friendly website," Regula said. "By word of mouth so far, people are already visiting the site and buying art, which absolutely thrills me. Artists Collective | Spartanburg is focused on the artists of this community. We try very hard to provide private and affordable studio space, public galleries with current exhibitions, the community's most extensive gift shop for locally made art, and now this new website. We are always looking for ways to help artists and to make art more available to the general public."

Artists Collective | Spartanburg is one of the leading not-for-profit art agencies in Upstate South Carolina. It is a membership-based agency with more than 50 members, most of whom live and work within driving distance of Spartanburg. The venue is located at 578 West Main St. in a converted three-story Baptist church. Normally, it hosts three public and free art exhibitions each month, but the venue's galleries are now closed to the public because of the pandemic until further notice.

Metropolitan Arts Council in Greenville, SC, Offers Virtual Exhibit Honoring Alan Ethridge

The Metropolitan Arts Council in Greenville, SC, is presenting a virtual exhibition entitled, ALAN - A MAC EXHIBIT, honoring its Executive Director of 17 years, Alan Ethridge, who is also celebrating his 60th birthday. The exhibit features work from close to 40 Greenville-area artists and MAC members. All pieces can now be viewed online and many of them are for sale.

Before becoming MAC's Executive Director in January 2006, Ethridge had been Director of Marketing & Development since January, 2004. He was previously Director of Donor Research in the Office for Development at Clemson University since December, 1991. Prior to returning to Greenville in 1989, he had worked for Ogilvy & Mather Advertising in Atlanta and Henderson Advertising in Greenville.

Work by Diana Farfan

Ethridge is a 1982 summa cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa alumnus of Vanderbilt University where he received a BA in English Literature and Fine Arts. He serves on the Board of Directors of the Greenville Convention & Visitors Bureau and Artisphere and the Board of Governors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Advisors of the Department of Visual Arts of Greenville Tech. In 2010, Ethridge received the Excellence in Arts Leadership Award from the Chamber of Commerce and the Peace Center for the Performing Arts.

Here's what Diana Farfan says about her work, Alan's Show: "Alan's Show is a celebration of Alan Ethridge's enormous efforts to maintain the MAC alive, strong and moving forward to support and encourage a large community of artists passionate for creation in every possible way, medium and kind of expression. The magic of a circus consists of the skillful acts of the acrobats. The magic of this circus is not only for entertainment but further to seduce, sensitize and educate the audience about the meaning and importance of the arts to enrich their lives and nurture their minds. Metaphorically speaking, these paper puppets embody Alan's pirouettes and maneuvers, so needed to convince and entertain in order to succeed in the world of art(s) administration, not a simple mission. Art in our community would not be as colorful and stunning as it is today without Alan's years of contortions and more, the support and vision of his team. Thanks to them the art motor keeps moving ahead in Greenville city and beyond!"

This is what Greg Flint said about his work, The Emperor, In His Study, After Rivers, After Davide: "When I was asked to participate in this show, both Jacques Louis David's 'Portrait of the Emperor Napoleon in his Study', and Larry River's painting based on the same piece, immediately popped into my head. I thought about it for a long time before starting to work on this, because I have often found that my first idea is usually not my best one. But the more I reflected on it, the more I realized that depicting Alan as Napoleon was a great fit. He has made such a tremendous impact on Greenville's art scene that the comparison is apt. I just want to say that his height played no part in my decision to... well, maybe it did a little... okay, yeah, more than a little... but anyway, my point is that Alan is both a charismatic, and despotic leader that we are all very grateful to. So thank you, Alan, for all of your hard work, and the many wonderful things you have done for the arts! Happy Birthday!"

Edith McBee Hardaway added this about her work, MAC: "In doing this work I tried to think about how I view Alan and MAC. To me, MAC is the umbrella that all the Arts in Greenville come under. This MAC umbrella offers shelter and protection for all these art organizations. Supporting them financially, advertising their programs, their events. Providing art education to schools and students of Greenville. Alan holds the umbrella. I should have put a cheerleader outfit on Alan."

The Metropolitan Arts Council (MAC) is a 46-year old 501(c)(3) nonprofit arts service organization dedicated to the preservation and growth of the cultural arts in Greenville County, South Carolina. MAC advances the Upstate's cultural and economic vitality by providing funding, technical assistance and professional services that enable a strong, well-supported community of artists and cultural organizations to focus on creating, producing, exhibiting and presenting the arts.

MAC, as Greenville's sole nonprofit organization designated to regrant funding for the South Carolina Arts Commission, combines private and public funding to support the following constituencies:

1. Artists to encourage them to work, grow and flourish in our region.
2. Cultural organizations to assess needs and coordinate the delivery of arts services across the region.
3. Arts providers and tourism groups to stimulate arts-related spending and position the region as a cultural destination.

Hampton III Gallery in Taylors, SC, Features Works by John Acorn

Hampton III Gallery in Taylors, SC, is presenting John Acorn: Masks, Profiles and a Chair, on view virtually through May 30, 2020. A Coffee and Conversation on Facebook that people can log into on will be offered on May 9 from 11 - 11:45am. People can e-mail me their questions at sandy@hamptoniiigallery.com and we will also do a virtual tour through the show with John.

Having completed a MFA at Michigan's Cranbrook Academy of Art, Acorn began teaching at Clemson University in 1961. After 7 years, he received a Fulbright grant and spent a year in Germany at a foundry outside of Berlin.

Work by Greg Flint

"Elemental Chair" by John Acorn

Acorn returned to Clemson and served as chair of the Art Department for 21 years, retiring in 1997. The South Carolina Arts Commission recognized his efforts as an arts advocate in South Carolina in 1998 with the Elizabeth O'Neill Verner Award.

Acorn has exhibited throughout the Southeast. His work is included in the collections of the Greenville County Museum of Art, the Asheville Museum of Art and Charlotte's Mint Museum of Art, among others. He has received the Art-

4. Young people by helping educators and administrators fund programs that integrate arts into everyday learning.

Since its inception in 1973, the Metropolitan Arts Council has been a progressive advocate for the arts community. Under Ethridge's leadership, MAC's endowment surpassed $1 million in 2016, and awarded more than $360,000 in grants last year alone.

In 2018, Ethridge received the Elizabeth O'Neill Verner Governor's Award for the Arts from the South Carolina Arts Commission, one of the Commission's highest awards in the state.

During his time at MAC Ethridge has truly transformed and unified Greenville's arts community, working tirelessly to ensure that the arts are funded at the highest level possible and that the arts are accessible to everyone. MAC's annual assets have increased by 1084.6% from 2006 - 2018 while Ethridge has been executive director and the organization has had an annual budget of over $2 million for the past 3 years thanks to Ethridge's efforts.

"Mask #8" by John Acorn

in-Architecture Award from the American Institute of Architects and Clemson's 2010 Distinguished Emeriti Award for his continuing commitment to the university and the community after retirement.

Sarah Kunkel, an art student in her senior semester at Bob Jones University, worked with Luke Delello to install the current exhibition of John Acorn's works. She spent time with Acorn, exploring his art and interviewing him.

Q: What inspired your mask series?

"I have always saved the money I made selling my artwork to buy African art. Owning this collection of African art exposed me to a lot of masks and one day I decided to make contemporary masks. For me, this series is not about imitating African masks, it's about referencing them in a contemporary way.”

Q: What inspired the profile series?

“One day I had this idea, and took a piece of cardboard and drew a woman’s profile. It was loosely based on a woman I knew but not in detail because I didn’t want it to be personal. I was fascinated by the idea of working with plywood because it was seldom used as a material to make art. That is the origin of the series and I can never keep count of these things but I probably have close to fifty heads.”

Q: What is your process for coming up with multiple renditions of a design?

“I don’t look to find ideas, they find me. I think of it as being informed rather than inspired and I’ve enjoyed having that relationship with my artwork. One day I was doing a jigsaw puzzle and thought to myself ‘I could make a profile in two pieces like a jigsaw puzzle.’ These designs are the result of working on one piece and halfway through finishing one, I think of what the next will be. In that way, each profile becomes suggestive of the next one.”

Q: What inspired the color palette for the masks?

“Red, white, black...these are all colors often used in African art”

Q: Do you know when a series is complete?

“I never really know when a series is done. All artists have unfinished work and I still have five profiles that aren’t finished. Sometimes I go back into a series but only because it’s something I wanted to do. I never want to work a series to death.”

“Mask” by John Acorn

Q: What is the most consistent thing in your work?

“Whenever people write about my work they always seem to have strong comments about the technical aspect of my work. I don’t call myself a perfectionist but I’m close to a perfectionist with wood-working. I’m not sure if this ‘exactness’ is intentional but it’s just what I do.”

Q: When did you first become interested in metalworking and woodworking?

“It all goes back to 5th grade and the required manual training classes in school. These were classes in woodworking, metalworking, and even the front edge of working with plastic. I’ve never forgotten those first experiences and the excitement of making something and showing my parents who were always thrilled and very supportive of my work.”

Sarah Kunkel offered the following about her interview with John Acorn, “On March 7th, 2020, during my senior year of college, I had the opportunity, through my internship at Hampton III Gallery, to interview John Acorn. As a young art student, I was honored to sit and talk with this artist who has such an incredible legacy as a maker and educator. Having grown up seeing his sculptures in downtown Greenville and his artwork at the local art center, I felt a personal connection to his work before I was old enough to fully understand the impact of his career. This privilege to talk with John Acorn, hear the personal stories that shape his work, and see firsthand his passion as a maker, was an experience I will treasure always.”

Arts Council of York County in Rock Hill, SC, Offers Works by Craig Stevens

Work by Craig Stevens

The Arts Council of York County presents Branded, featuring works by Craig Stevens online at (yorkcountyarts.org/2020branded) from May 1 through June 14, 2020. There, patrons can learn more about the artist, view his artwork, and take a virtual tour of the Dalton Gallery at the Center for the Arts in Rock Hill, SC.

Influenced by the signs of the times, Stevens’ layered works underscore the passage of time, memories that remain, and the shadows of a life once lived and how their influence shapes the person one becomes.

Stevens builds time capsules communicating messages, obvious & hidden, cobbled together from life changing experiences and his years in advertising. These mash-ups combine iconic images in layers for each individual to explore and experience in their own way.

Stevens’ work comes from a general realization that time moves on leaving fragments and pieces of memory and experience that communicate in messages we may not be aware of on the surface. Billboards, like memory, were recycled and repainted with no regard to what lies underneath. From this, he noticed an abstract communication arise, often not in any order, forming interesting shapes and images left behind by the different pieces of the previous ads. Over the years, while painting over old ads on billboards outside, Stevens might come across layout lines of a painter, different styles or techniques that he hadn’t seen before laid down 5-10 years prior.

The current work started to take shape while exploring this “puzzle” or “layering” type of communication. These small billboards are “mash-ups” of images and lettering similar to the layering Stevens encountered while working on billboards. There is a history, a process, and layers intentionally left for the viewer to discover, creating a visual time capsule of what came before. All the while capitalizing on the juxtaposition of iconic images of consumerism, all things that aren't good for us, with human faces - rapacious and almost manic looking.

Craig Stevens was born in 1960 in the small town of Perkasio, PA. He gravitated to drawing at an early age by trying to copy illustrations of his favorite books. As his interest and ability grew he looked for other learning experiences starting with the Famous Artists School (yes, he drew the pirate). Through the Barnstone Studios, a generally realist and classically based private school, he found his love for figure drawing. This foundational training informs his work to this day. He has continued to work towards completing his "official" education attending Kutztown University, Moravian College, and most recently Coastal Carolina University, but his education as a professional sign painter, specializing in billboard pictorials, has influenced his work and aesthetic. Currently, he holds a position as Creative Director of Coastal Outdoor Advertising while pursuing his life-long ambition of being a full time working artist.

On view in the Perimeter Gallery at the same time will be the Catawba River Art Guild 20/20 Exhibition.

Due to the outbreak of COVID-19, the Arts Council of York County's offices and galleries are closed until further notice. The Arts Council is looking to the guidance and directives of local, state and federal officials to amend plans as necessary. The decision to close affects all ACYC events and facility rentals. Cancellations and postponements are precautionary measures taken to minimize exposure. By activating social distancing, the Arts Council removes the opportunity for people in the community to be exposed. Please check the Arts Council's Facebook pages (@yorkcountyarts) and (@uffyc) and websites (yorkcountyarts.org) and (underexposedfilmfestival.org) for the most recent updates regarding scheduled events.

The Arts Council of York County is headquartered at the Center for the Arts located in downtown Rock Hill, a state-recognized cultural district.

Art MoB Studios & Marketplace in Hendersonville, NC, Offers Curb Side Service

Michele Sparks, owner of Art MoB Studios in Hendersonville, NC, has found a way to continue selling art during this extraordinary cautious time. By creating this unique shopping service, customers can park free in her parking lot and choose the type of art either by shopping online or by looking at the large collection of art through the store windows. "I've taken window shopping to a whole new level" says Sparks. "It's a way for me to still represent my artists even during this very difficult time." Customers can text or call when they arrive to place the order. Or we can ship or hold the product for later pick up. Only credit and debit cards accepted. This new shopping experience will include all precautions from the CDC by wearing a mask, gloves and no personal contact.

Art MoB now represents over 80 local artists and has been proudly open for three years, and counting. Art MoB also features 5,000 square feet of space including four studios with wonderful resident artists. These artists can be found fast at work in their studios most days of the week. We invite you to come and join us... see our work, meet our artists, and take classes with us

For more detailed information, visit our facebook page or the website at (<http://www.artmobstudios.com>). Or by calling 828/693-4545. Although customers can window shop anytime curbside service is Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11am-1pm. Shipping is also available, or items can be held for a later pick up date.

Pink Dog Gallery in Asheville, NC, Offers Group Exhibition

Pink Dog Gallery in Asheville, NC, will present Dreamscapes, works from the Beyond Prison Artist Alliance, on view from May 8 through June 7, 2020. A reception is planned for May 8, from 6-8pm, but due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, it is advised to call ahead to see what the gallery situation is.

Participating in this exhibit are: Ted Brayson, Matthew Caldwell, William Hopkins, Eric Hughes Sr., Mikie "Echo" Inscoc, David Jones #0679779, Robert G. Reid, Edwin Riegger, Juan "Artistic Vomit" Santiago, and Michael "Bird" Sheets.

The Avery Mitchell Correctional Institution (AMCI) is a medium security prison in Spruce Pine, NC, about a fifteen minute drive from the Penland School of Craft. The Beyond Prison Artist Alliance began in December 2017 out of a series of conversations between AMCI Case Manager Angela Lamm and Penland Community Collaborations Manager Stacey Lane, who were trying to address requests for drawing instruction coming from those incarcerated at AMCI.

Beyond Prison began as a ten-week pilot drawing course taught by Daniel Beck, Rachel Meginnis, and Sarah Rose Lejeune. It has evolved as a continuing program of visiting artists, discussion, and technical and conceptual workshops. This program's purpose has become building artistic community—finding and supporting connection and commonality across both sides of the gatehouse. This mission includes the pursuit of exhibition opportunities to share these artists' vision beyond the prison walls.

The incarcerated participants in this program are active and highly skilled artists, many of whom hold long sentences. More than anything, the artists at AMCI would like you to know that they have talent, heart, and soul and do not want to be forgotten. Beyond Prison aims to be a human and empowering force, one that challenges all of its participants, incarcerated and free, to imagine art as an essential tool for building a more just future.

The Beyond Prison Artist Alliance would not be possible without the tireless work of AMCI Volunteer Coordinator

Angela Lamm and Penland's Community Collaborations Manager Stacey Lane, the grant writing efforts of Nancy Lowe, and the support of Penland School of Craft.

This project was made possible in part by support from the William R. Kenan, Jr. Charitable Trust.

The artists of Beyond Prison Artist Alliance approach the theme Dreamscapes from a wide angle: somewhere between dream and reality, escape and landscape. The work in this exhibition expresses the unique perspectives and styles of the ten contributing artists. Some artists communicate Dreamscapes through the lens of personal family narratives, others visualize historical events, mythology, or surrealist tenets. The work in this exhibition represents dreams as dichotomy—diving deeper into reality for some, for others, escaping farther from it. Each piece expresses a unique perspective and style, while communicating as a whole within unified themes of connection, purpose, and movement.

The show highlights technical approaches in graphite, colored pencil, painted acrylic, and mixed media paper sculpture. Dreamscapes is an opportunity for these ten artists to flex their wings, and share their vision and perspective with us all.

Southern Highland Craft Guild in Asheville, NC, Offers Fiber Day - May 9, 2020

A most celebrated day of fiber and textiles will return to the Folk Art Center on May 9, 2020, with the Southern Highland Craft Guild's Fiber Day. For over 30 years, felters, quilters, weavers, knitters, tatters, spinners, and many more fiber makers convene at Milepost 382 to share handmade skills with visitors on the Blue Ridge Parkway in Asheville, NC.

Each year, Guild members and friends demonstrate a variety of techniques from 10am-4pm. This free community event invites visitors to get a close-up look at how fiber products are made and the stories of these makers. (It is advised to check to see if this event will take place due to the COVID-19 Pandemic.)

There will be several interactive demonstrations and learning activities for children of all ages. Textile arts are known for building a sense of community, and to celebrate this, the Guild invites visitors at Fiber Day to bring their own handwork, whatever it may be. We want the hill behind the Folk Art Center auditorium to be covered with people engaged in fiber arts. Bring a blanket, a picnic, or walk on the hiking trails, and enjoy a spring afternoon of fiber craft!

South Carolina Art Education Association Features GSSM Students in Virtual Art Exhibition

Five students represented The South Carolina Governor's School for Science and Mathematics (GSSM) in the 2020 Eastern Region K-12 Youth Art Month (YAM) Virtual Art Exhibition, hosted by the South Carolina Art Education Association.

Students included are: Shelby Moore of Anderson County; Ethan Mills of Georgetown County; Haleigh Gartner of Beaufort County; Emma Keiser of Charleston County; and Gracie Floyd of Florence County.

Work by Shelby Moore

The exhibition was juried by the Linda English Gallery in Florence, SC. Gracie Floyd took first place and Shelby Moore took second place in the high school division of the Eastern Region competition.

Work by Emma Keiser

"Many students at GSSM whose main focus is on STEM also have a deeply profound relationship with the humanities and fine arts," said Patz Fowle, GSSM Visual Arts Coordinator. "Visual art is a thriving, living place in one's soul. It's a place where curiosity is abundant, and ideas are realized. As an artist and as an art educator, it is a wondrous pleasure to witness each student's creative growth as they develop a life-long love of the arts.

Work by Gracie Floyd

Along with so many others, I celebrate our student artists and their creative achievements."

Created in 1961 by The Art & Creative Materials Institute (ACMI), Youth Art Month was an event to emphasize the value to children from participating in visual art education. Youth Art Month encourages support for quality school art programs and promotes art material safety. The program provides a medium for recognizing skills developed through visual arts experiences unlike any other curriculum subjects, including problem-solving, creativity, observation, and communication.

GSSM art students received 1st place award & 2nd Place award in the high school division of the Eastern Region YAM competition/exhibition of the SC Art Education Association. (All eastern region winners listed below are currently in the state virtual exhibition)

1. Elementary(K-5) - 1st - Ada Castillo (3rd grade) from Socastee Elementary School and 2nd - Seth Strickland (Kindergarten) from Waccamaw Elementary School.
2. Middle(6-8) - 1st - Samatha Lemire (8th grade) from Forestbrook Middle School and 2nd - Sadie Patterson (6th grade) from Briggs Elementary School.
3. High(9-12) - 1st - Gracie Floyd (11 grade) from SC Governor's School for Science and Math and 2nd - Shelby Moore (12th grade) from SC Governor's School for Science and Math.

Arts Council of Fayetteville-Cumberland County in Fayetteville, NC, Offers Virtual Exhibition

The Arts Council of Fayetteville-Cumberland County in Fayetteville, NC, has gone virtual with its Size Matters exhibition. The previously cancelled group exhibition Size Matters was set to open Friday April 24. Due to the statewide ban on mass gatherings, the Arts Council will launch Size Matters as a virtual art exhibition showcasing the creative works of emerging and highly-collected local artists from various parts of the country.

"When we originally cancelled Size Matters due to the coronavirus, we gave the artists who had submitted the option to receive a full fee refund or to donate the entry fee for us to help local artists," said Greg Weber, President and CEO of the Arts Council of Fayetteville/Cumberland County. "Almost overwhelmingly, the Size Matters artists donated the entry fee to help local artists. As a tribute to the giving nature of artists everywhere, the Arts Council has prepared this virtual art gallery as a thank you to those creative individuals who, at a time when the world feels dark, bring light and color – hope – into our lives."

Size Matters encourages artists to experiment with scale. The artwork represents recognizable objects that have undergone a disorientating shift in size. The virtual galleries can be visited online by desktop and laptop users at (Exhibitbit.com). Mobile users will need to download the free Exhibitbit app after clicking the gallery link.

"My viewership is all over the world," pictorial artist David Pickett said. "With this exhibition, I'll gain 10 times the exposure and have greater visibility. My friends and family that are out of state can't always visit the gallery. Now they all can." Pickett, a resident of Shallotte, NC, has two pieces featured in the exhibition.

The virtual exhibition allows visitors to observe artwork that would have been physically featured in the Arts Council's gallery while also having access to artist bio pages and have the option to purchase any of the artwork, all from the comfort of one's home. Size Matters consists of 31 artists featuring 44 pieces of artwork with an estimated value of $70,000.

For information regarding Size Matters please visit us at (<https://www.theartscouncil.com/feature/size-matters-exhibition>).

The Arts Council of Fayetteville/Cumberland County was founded in 1973. As a link between artists, arts and cultural organizations and the community, the nonprofit agency administers programs in partnership with a variety of local agencies to stimulate community development through the arts. The Arts Council supports individual creativity, cultural preservation, economic development, and lifelong learning through the arts.

The Arts Council's grants, programs, and services are funded in part by contributions from businesses and individuals, and through grants from the City of Fayetteville and Cumberland County.

For further information check our NC Institutional Gallery listings, call Metoya Scott at 910/323-1776, ext. 239 or visit (www.theartscouncil.com).

Every once in a while I feel like just filling one of these spaces with a kind of nothingness. You know as if nobody reads what's in these spaces anyway. So if one time I said something like the first person to read this and send me an e-mail to (info@carolinaarts.com) during the month of May, they'll get a free 1/4 ad in our June 2020 issue or the month that is most useful for them. Liberty Arts in Durham, NC, Offers Interview With Delores J. Farmer (Hayes)

So get ready for a window into the studios and lives of those of us who call ourselves Liberty Arts Artists, at Liberty Arts in Durham, NC, every two weeks. You will also find these interviews on our website at (www.libertyarts.org).

We hope you'll find something in our artist's stores that will brighten your day or make the perfect gift for a friend or family member. These small purchases brought together by our whole community can make a big difference.

Interview with Delores J. Farmer (Hayes):

What's the best piece of advice you've been given?

DF: I'm not sure this is advice, maybe more of a reality check that changed how I went about becoming a working artist. When I was in college, just starting to focus on being an artist, I was telling everyone who would listen, and even those who wouldn't, that I was going to be an artist, that I WAS an artist. At the time I had a full academic course load, worked 2 jobs and had a ceramic assistantship at Claymakers. I was working and moving non stop but I barely made work.

My independent study professor asked me, "how many hours a week do you spend in the studio?" I was also taking one 3 hr sculpting class at Claymakers. So that plus the one 3 hour wheel throwing course on campus, I was working a total of 6 hrs a week in the studio. He looked at me, he didn't hesitate or blink but simply replied, "you won't make it." Now, I was hurt. I really wanted to be an artist and to have someone tell me without sympathy that I wouldn't, was just deflating. He followed up with, and I'm paraphrasing, "There are so many talented artists fighting to do what they love for a living. They're actually putting in the time, making the sacrifices, devoting their life to their passion and even then so many will not make it."

Pottery by Delores J. Farmer (Hayes)

What I took from that was, at the time I wanted to be an artist but not really. I went around telling everyone about how being an artist was so great but I hadn't really devoted myself to the work. Right then I made a decision to really commit, not kinda commit for show and to look cool doing the whole struggling artist thing, but to make everything I did support my one goal of being a working artist.

Delores J. Farmer (Hayes)

I quit one job to make time for creating and spent every spare minute I had in the studio. I gave up Friday and Saturday nights with friends, parties, which is hard for a 22 year old, but I wanted clay to be my life. I lived at Claymakers, as many artists and staff there can tell you. I kept telling everyone that I was an artist, but not verbally. I told everyone by my actions. People began to see my commitment, see the effort I was making and offered help, gave me scrap clay, supplies, private lessons and opportunities to connect and work with established artists.

I am now a self sustaining artist. I work anywhere between 40 and 120 hours a week. Committing myself to my work made my dream a reality.

What places are most inspiring to you?

DF: The Eno River and the hearth by my fireplace

What is your dream project?

DF: My Dream Project is to successfully fire the wood kiln I've been building for the past year. We've had a couple of tries, but it's not ever quite gotten to temperature. I've spoken with some experts and we're making some modifications. We'll fire it up as soon as we can get together again.

Woodfiring is decorative collaboration between the artist and the fire. The flame and wood ash create paintings on the surface on pots. They leave traces of their journeys like whips marks or melted ash on the pots. They also enhance glazes making them run or shine brighter.

How has COVID-19 changed your life/business?

DF: I've always understood that the success of my business is dependent on my community. When I first started selling pottery, it was total strangers that bought pieces from me, and gave words of encouragement and compliments, that gave me the courage to continue on this path. Because of their support, I've been able to have my own studio, build kilns, sell at many markets and festivals, and host classes and workshops. It's a relationship between artist and supporter. Right now, my community, and myself, are focusing on flattening the curve of this pandemic. Because of our need to protect our family, friends, loved ones, and community, all of my sources of income have stopped. No markets, no festivals, no galleries are open. There are no classes or workshops.

It's been challenging to create other sources of income. Its also been tough to realize how delicate our relationship to each other and commerce really is. I spent the first 2 weeks of this quarantine in a daze. I couldn't believe all these avenues of income and interactions were all at once, gone. Conversations with my husband, keeping busy in my garden and our Liberty Arts Zoom chats have helped me reel in this feeling of uneasiness.

This week I launched my online shop at (DeloresPottery.com). Every day I'll add new items to the site. This is a new venture for me. It takes a long time to add each item, and I have over 200!

Shipping fragile work can be difficult and expensive. So far the community has once again showed up to support me and I've sold many items already. My plan is to continue sharing my pottery with my community as long as I possibly can.

What has it meant to be a Liberty Arts Artist?

Hillsborough Gallery of Arts in Hillsborough, NC, Offers Group Online Show

The Hillsborough Gallery of Arts presents the work of artists Nell Chandler, Lynn Wartski and Michelle Yellin in its new online show, 3 NARRATIVES, on view through May 28, 2020, on the gallery's website (HillsboroughGallery.com).

Artist Lynn Wartski says of her work, "My newest sculptures all feature anthropomorphic figures captured in a somewhat surreal or even absurd way. This represents a slight change of direction in my art doll sculptures that have been primarily human figures. I'm finding that this current series of work allows even more freedom to stretch the definition of what these playful figures can be and say. I leave it up to the viewer to unravel the narrative they each have to tell."

Michele Yellin's paintings each tell a story. "In particular they are telling the narrative of my daily life, my thoughts, hopes, sorrows and dreams." Everything is in there, hidden in the layers as well as on the surface of the canvas. "However, my narrative is not mine alone. These paintings tell of our universal story, the

Delores J. Farmer (Hayes) Throwing

DF: In 2016 I decided to have a home studio because my production needs had outgrown the space I currently had. I had studio space at Claymakers as a studio assistant, but when I left, I lost that ocean of creative exchange, I lost that sense of community. I shared my home studio with one potter which allowed me to produce more in a quiet space. We were able to bounce ideas off of each other but sometimes we were just too busy creating to stop. Before my home studio, there was always someone around to share ideas and opportunities with.

At Liberty Arts I've been able to produce all that I need, collaborate with artists with different backgrounds and share ideas and opportunities with many artists. The Liberty Artists have shared an immense ocean of knowledge. I've been able to grow and develop as an artist and I have been given the space to bring dreams to reality.

Liberty Arts is my networking pool, studio and home.

back to her narrative roots. "When we all decided that one of the things we have in common is telling stories through our work, I thought I would do a line called 'Friends'." My sisters began encouraging me to do this when they saw one of the pieces I had made for a mutual friend. So when Michele, Lynn and I decided on the title 3 NARRATIVES I thought it would be the perfect time to delve into my new "Friends" line. I enjoyed drawing with colored pencils again and setting the images into my jewelry.

Although the gallery is temporarily closed due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, 3 NARRATIVES will be available on the gallery's website through May 28 at (HillsboroughGallery.com).

Founded in 2006, the gallery is owned by 21 local artists and represents these established artists exhibiting contemporary fine art & craft. The Gallery's offerings include paintings, sculpture, ceramics, photography, textiles, jewelry, glass, metals, and wood.

Some Exhibits That Are Still On View

Our policy at Carolina Arts is to present a press release about an exhibit only once and then go on, but many major exhibits are on view for months. This is our effort to remind you of some of them.

It should be noted that all these facilities are currently closed due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, but could open during the month of May. It is advised to contact each facility before traveling there.

Brookgreen Gardens in Murrells Inlet, SC, is hoping to open Bruce Munro at Brookgreen: Southern Light, a major exhibition, on May 15. If so, the exhibit will continue through Sept. 12, 2020. It is advised to call ahead before going. The exhibit will consist of seven works of art in light and mixed media, each designed specifically for the natural garden rooms where they will be installed. Brookgreen's exhibit will be the only opportunity to see Munro's work in the southeastern United States in 2020. For more info call the Gardens at 843/235-6000 or visit (www.brookgreen.org).

Work by Alice Ballard

Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte, NC, is presenting Harmony With an Edge, featuring ceramic creations by Alice Ballard, on view in the Overcash Art Gallery, through May 28, 2020. Alice Ballard is a ceramic artist whose work is deeply connected to nature. Working with clay, Ballard takes her inspiration from close observation and communion with the natural world around her. Pressing the clay into molds, Ballard creates organic shapes in hopes of transcending the divide between art and the outside world. With a great concern for the environment and conservation, Ballard hopes that, through her art, others will be inspired to forge their own connection with nature. Harmony With an Edge will include work consisting of tree totems, wall hanging pods, and a variety of white earthenware pieces. For further information contact Megan Boisvert by e-mail at (megan.boisvert@cpcc.edu).

"Laila in Orchids" by Saba Chaudhry Taj, Joyce Wilkins Pope Grand Prize Award

CAM Raleigh in Raleigh, NC, is presenting the Raleigh Fine Arts Society's North Carolina Artists Exhibition, juried by Nat Trotman, on view through June 14, 2020. From a small exhibition in 1964, the North Carolina Artists Exhibition has evolved to be the largest annual all media juried exhibition in NC. It offers artists an opportunity to present their work and be juried by a renowned art professional. The exhibition space at the Contemporary Art Museum located in downtown Raleigh enhances viewing opportunities. All art is for sale. For further information visit (www.camraleigh.com).

Charleston

Avery Research Center for African History and Culture, at the College of Charleston, 125 Bull St., Charleston. Ongoing - Exhibits on view include: "Since 1920: Zeta Phi Beta Centennial". The Gamma Zeta chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Incorporated presents a centennial exhibit filled with the rich history of the sorority in print and paraphernalia. Visitors can see in-depth the programming, philanthropy and reach of Zeta Phi Beta during their 100 years. "The Water Keeps Rising" Hip-hop artist and activist Benny Starr has created an interactive exhibit based on data from the Avery's State of Racial Disparities Report in Charleston County. This exhibit will create an immersive experience for visitors. In the areas of civic engagement, racial disparities, the environment and performance art/music, this exhibit will aim to connect the dots from historical data and archival information up to the present conditions of the Lowcountry. "Resilient". Local artist Chris "Kolpeace" Johnson will highlight the power of being resilient with this work that recognizes African Americans who have shown strength through adversity including the late local activist Muhiyidin D'baha and Cyntoia Brown, who faced life in prison after being convicted of homicide as a juvenile. These pieces are tributes to memorialize the impactful strength of an unsung hero in the community, engaging the soul and spirit. "The African Origins of Mathematics". Charleston resident and artist Robert "King David" Ross highlights the direct impact Africa has had on modern mathematics in this exhibit. Showcasing the first math instrument, the Ishango bone, the exhibit allows visitors to see the influence Africa has had on every aspect of life. Admission: Free. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-5pm, with guided tours at 10:30am, 11:30am, 1:30pm, 2:30pm, and 3:30pm. Contact: 843/805-5507 or visit (www.cofc.edu/avery).

City Gallery at Joseph P. Riley, Jr. Waterfront Park, 34 Prioleau Street, Charleston. Through May 3 - "Visual Vigil," featuring an installation by Susan Perkins. Perkins has designed "Visual Vigil" to be an active conversation on the effects of mass shootings; the installation is made up of contemplative pieces that represent the lives lost and communities affected by mass violence from 1903 through present day. The work in installation is contemplative, and is clean and simply presented. Perkins uses a restrained pallet for less distraction, to create empty space, and to remain neutral - allowing the viewer to bring individual significance to her works. She began working on the Visual Vigil project after the mass shooting at Mother Emanuel, in her hometown of Charleston, SC. Hours: Tue.-Fri., 10am-6pm & Sat.-Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 843/958-6484 or (http://citygalleryatwaterfrontpark.com/).

We will continue to post updates on our website and our social media channels (follow us on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter)! Please stay in touch. We want to hear from you. Gibbes collection tours and artist videos can be found at (https://vimeo.com/user32191389?utm_source=General+COVID+eblast+-+4%2F20%2F20&utm_campaign=Coronavirus+General+Eblast+4.20.20&utm_medium=email). Ongoing - Take a tour of the Charleston Renaissance through works at the Gibbes with Sara Arnold at this link (https://vimeo.com/399235244?utm_source=General+COVID+eblast+-+4%2F7%2F20&utm_campaign=Coronavirus+General+Eblast+4.06.20&utm_medium=email). The Charleston Renaissance, roughly defined as the years between World Wars I and II, saw an influx in the arts including literature, music, and fine arts. Sara Arnold, Director of Curatorial Affairs, will highlight a few of these artists and discuss their impact on the development of this cultural movement. Gallery 8, Through May 3 - "Central to Their Lives: Southern Women Artists in the Johnson Collection". Spanning the decades between the late 1890s and early 1960s, Central to Their Lives brings together for the first time the paintings and sculptures of forty-two diverse women artists who made significant contributions to the art of the South. This exhibition examines the challenges female artists faced during a period in which women's social, cultural, and political roles were being redefined and reinterpreted. The exhibition includes works by leading figures in the Charleston Renaissance such as Alice Ravenel Huger Smith and Elizabeth O'Neill Verner, as well as Corrie McCallum, Minnie Evans, Anne Goldthwaite, Clementine Hunter, and Augusta Savage. Gallery 9, Through May 3 - "A Return to the Grand Tour: Micromosaic Jewels from the Collection of Elizabeth Locke". Micromosaics arrived at their height of pictorial perfection from the late 18th to the mid 19th centuries. These exquisitely crafted plaques, which contain up to 1,400 delicately shaded tiles of glass per square inch, were sold to travelers on their Grand Tour through Italy. Made into jewelry, boxes, and paper weights and sold as easily carried mementoes, micromosaics passed out of fashion toward the end of the 19th century and are now a lost art. This exhibition features 92 brilliant examples from the private collection of Elizabeth Locke. Galleries 2 and 3, Through June 28 - "Charleston Collects: British Sporting Art from the Penkhus Collection". The Charleston Collects series at the Gibbes aims to highlight significant fine art collections formed by Lowcountry residents. This exhibition features exceptional British sporting art paintings from the private collection of Charleston's Dr. Stephen and Mrs. Martha Penkhus. The Penkhus's collecting journey began in 1986 when they purchased a portrait of the famed nineteenth-century English racing horse Cotherstone, by John Frederick Herring, Sr. (British, 1795-1865). Their passion for British sporting art and culture blossomed taking them on many unexpected adventures that have led them to build a first-rate collection of animal and sporting paintings. Galleries 1, 4, and 5, Permanent Exhibition - "18th and 19th Century American Paintings and Sculpture". American paintings, from colonial portraits to Civil War-era landscapes, occupy the Gibbes Main Gallery. Portraits of leading political, social, and military figures include works by Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Benjamin West, Gilbert Stuart, Thomas Sully and Samuel F.B. Morse. The gallery also features landscape and genre scenes by Angelica Kaufmann, Louis Mignot, Eastman Johnson, Conrad Wise Chapman, and William Aiken Walker. The paintings collection is complemented by examples of neoclassical sculpture on view in the Campbell Rotunda, and decorative art objects on loan from the Rivers Collection. Gallery 5, Permanent Exhibition - "Miniature Portraits". The first American miniature portraits were painted in Charleston, and today the Gibbes is home to one of the most prestigious portrait miniature collections in the United States. Containing more than six hundred objects, the collection spans nearly two hundred years and represents the work of over a hundred artists. Small enough to fit in the palm of the hand, these tiny portraits were treasured remembrances of loved ones in the age before photography. Presented in state-of-the-art display cases, and in viewable storage drawers featured miniatures include works by Mary Roberts, Jeremiah Theus, Henry Benbridge, Charles Wilson Peale, Pierre Henri, Edward Greene Malbone, George Engleheart, and Charles Fraser. Gallery 6, Permanent Exhibition - "20th Century American Regionalism and the Charleston Renaissance". At the turn of the twentieth century, American artists looked to their European counterparts and beyond as they developed identifiably American artistic movements. Two particularly strong influences during this time period were French Impressionism and Japanese woodblock prints. Another prevailing theme during this period was the growing interest in American subject matter. American regionalism and social realism played important roles in the development of art in Charleston, which flourished as a destination for artists, particularly during the years of 1915 to 1945 a period now known as the Charleston Renaissance. Gallery 7, Permanent Exhibition - "Modern and Contemporary". Modern and contemporary art in America encompasses a wide range of styles, subject matter, and media. As a whole, the diversity of modern and contemporary art reflects the rich and varied heritage of our nation and the lowcountry region. Works in this gallery were created over the past forty years by artists who are native to the area, who have worked here, or who have created objects that reflect the complex story of the region. The works are grouped to reflect several themes including the southern landscape, the human figure, abstraction, and the legacy of slavery in America. Museum Shop - Now offering the inventory of the Tradd Street Press, reproductions of works by Elizabeth O'Neill Verner among other exhibit related art objects. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm & Sun., 1-5pm; closed Mon. Admission: Yes. Contact: 843/722-2706 or at (www.gibbesmuseum.org).

Redux Contemporary Art Center, featuring Redux Studios, 1056 King Street, Charleston. Ongoing - In May, 2017, Redux relocated to 1056 King Street with 38 studios, three galleries, a larger print shop, classroom, dark room, and photo studio. The Charleston Museum, 360 Meeting Street, Charleston. Founded in 1773, is America's first museum. Lowcountry Photography Gallery, Through May 26 - "Portraits of the Lowcountry: Cased Images from the Archives". A selection of daguerreotypes, ambrotypes and tintypes will be exhibited featuring individual and family portraits of the Lowcountry. Ongoing - "Becoming Americans: Charleston in the Revolutionary War". Charleston played a critical role in the Revolutionary War. South Carolina was the wealthiest of the thirteen rebellious colonies and Charleston was its key port to maintain its trade with the outside world. The British would make three attempts against the city during the Revolutionary War. Their defeat at the Battle of Sullivan's Island on June 28, 1776 was a crucial patriot victory, which convinced many that independence could be achieved. The Siege of Charleston, meanwhile, was the longest siege of the Revolutionary War and the largest battle in South Carolina. These events and others are chronicled in the new exhibit, which will also features artifacts and period images that have not been exhibited at the Museum before. Ongoing - Featuring the most extensive collection of South Carolina cultural and scientific collections in the nation, it also owns two National Historic Landmark houses, the Heyward-Washington House (1772) and the Joseph Manigault House (1803), as well as the Dill Sanctuary, a 580-acre wildlife preserve. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9am-5pm & through the Summer months, Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 843/722-2996 or at (www.charlestonmuseum.org).

Museum from Home at (<https://www.columbiamuseum.org/museum-home>) is an initiative that brings the museum to the people, encouraging them to connect with art and each other from the comfort of their homes. Through May 17 - "It's Alive! Classic Horror and Sci-Fi Art from the Kirk Hammett Collection", an exhibition of graphic art that has seeped into the public imagination and reflected society's deepest fears and anxieties for nearly a century. Best known as lead guitarist of the famed rock band Metallica, Kirk Hammett is also an obsessive collector of visually arresting horror and sci-fi film art and has dedicated the last three decades to creating one of the world's most important collections. The exhibition, organized by the Peabody Essex Museum (PEM), is touring internationally and makes its final stop at the CMA. Through Jan. 1, 2025 - "The Collection". Come see the newly organized collection. We've gathered ancient and modern works of art, together in one space, that explore our shared archetypes, myths, and ideals. Galleries 5 & 6, Ongoing - "Modern & Contemporary Art from the Collection". Celebrating some of the CMA's greatest hits, this exhibition features over 30 paintings, drawings, photographs and sculptures from the Museum's collection that have not been on view recently. It offers the visitor experiences both serious and sensual and is designed to both entertain and enlighten. Notable works included are by Jasper Johns, Howard Thomas, Sally Mann and Edward Ruscha, whose famous image of the Hollywood Hills (on view) has become a staple of the art world. Ray Taylor Fair Gallery, Ongoing - Featuring a new and permanent installation of its ancient art collection. The installation includes approximately 50 objects that introduce the major ancient civilizations from the Mediterranean and Near East. Examples of the earliest form of writing from 12th century B.C. Mesopotamia, are shown next to Egyptian scarabs and Greek painted vessels. The world of the ancient Romans is represented by 2nd century glass and bronze items and portrait sculpture. Many of these works have not been seen since the Museum moved to its location on Main Street in 1998. The collection has grown over the last several years with the donation of 12 fine Roman sculptures in 2002 from Pennsylvania collector Dr. Robert Y. Turner. Florence

Florence County Museum, 111 West Cheves Street, across the street from the Francis Marion University Performing Arts Center, Florence. Special Exhibits Gallery, Through May 17 - "Willie and Holcha," an exhibition of art by William Henry Johnson and Holcha Krake Johnson. In 1928, Florence native William Henry Johnson met Danish textile artist Holcha Krake. It was a chance encounter which opened a new chapter in Johnson's life, both personally and artistically. Johnson's early artworks often evince his shifting nature, reflecting the influences of well established artists and styles of the time. However, after their marriage in 1930, Holcha became a constant in Johnson's life. Ongoing - This exhibit introduces visitors to the history of the museum and its formative collections. This gallery also exhibits the histories and diversity of the City of Florence, and the incorporated municipalities of Florence County. Additionally, the Community Gallery communicates the lives, stories and accomplishments of significant past and present citizens of Florence County and members of its communities. This gallery is one of two permanent exhibit spaces designed by award winning exhibit design firm, HaleySharpe Design. Pee Dee History Gallery, Ongoing - This is the largest gallery space in the facility, comprising 3,300 sq. ft. of exhibit space. Andrew Wyeth (1917 - 2009), regarded as one of the most important American artists of the 20th century, launched his career in 1937 with a sold-out exhibition of his watercolors in New York. On the occasion of the young artist's remarkable debut, his father and mentor, noted illustrator N.C. Wyeth wrote him a congratulatory letter prophesying, "You are headed in the direction that should finally reach the pinnacle in American art." Ongoing - "Impressionism and the South 2019". On April 15, 1874, in an act of defiance against the official French government-sanctioned Salon exhibitions, thirty self-proclaimed Independent artists opened an exhibition at photographer Nadar's vacated Paris studio. Shortly after, a satirical review that mocked Claude Monet's Impression, Sunrise gave the movement its name. Impressionism was the first bombshell launched against academic tradition. The movement defined light as color, becoming the first modern language of paint. Ongoing - "Art and Artists of South Carolina: David Drake, Jasper Johns, William H. Johnson, and Grainger McKoy". The contributions of South Carolina artists to our culture are as varied and rich as the stories of the artists themselves. The GCMA is proud to dedicate an entire gallery to the accomplishments of four of the nation's greatest artists, each of whom has called South Carolina home. Ongoing - "How? Who? Why?". According to Rod Stewart, every picture tells a story. Whether its subject is a familiar Old Testament morality tale or an apocalyptic warning of impending nuclear doom, the physical process of making a picture (or a print, painting, or sculpture) sometimes assumes an equal role in the story's telling. If nothing else, the manipulation of a medium can be the message. Admission: Free. Hours: Wed.-Sat., 10am-6pm and Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 864/271-7570 or at (www.gcma.org).

Orangeburg

Cecil Williams Civil Rights Museum, 1865 Lake Drive, Orangeburg. Ongoing - Established in 2019, the exquisite ultra-modern facility displays 1000 images of the Civil Rights Movement, but from the perspective of The Epochal South Carolina Events That Changed America. The massive archives comprise the largest collection of images of this type among all museums in the United States; including the Atlanta based High Museum which archives 300 images. The images were created by the founder, Cecil Williams, who began photography at age 9 and covered almost all historically significant events in South Carolina; from 1950 Briggs v. Elliot in Summerton, thru the 1969 Charleston Hospital Workers' Strike...and Beyond. From 1955 through 1969, Williams was a freelance journalist for "JET" magazine. His images have appeared in thousands of magazines, newspapers, historical publications, and motion picture productions. The museum design itself is part of the founders' DNA because; upon graduating from high school, Williams wanted to attend Clemson University to study architecture but denied because of his race. He then purchased a drafting board and through the years, designed three residences; including one featured in "EBONY", and the museum's design which has evolved into a living history gallery. Hours: call ahead for hours. Contact: call 803-531-1662 or at (www.cecilwilliams.com).

Spartanburg

Throughout downtown Spartanburg's Cultural District, Ongoing - The Creative Crosswalk Project is a public art initiative in which local artists and designers design and paint a series of crosswalk murals, transforming the crosswalks into works of art, on Main Street in Spartanburg, SC. The downtown cultural district area is often bustling with events and pedestrians, and the pedestrians rely heavily on a multitude of crosswalks to safely traverse the downtown Spartanburg area. The problem is that crosswalks are incredibly easy to overlook, they are rarely visually appealing, and they can even be quite dangerous. In an effort to remedy these issues, Chapman Cultural Center, the City of Spartanburg, and the Spartanburg Area Chamber of Commerce came together to organize the Creative Crosswalk Project. For more info visit (<https://www.chapmanculturalcenter.org/pages/blog/detail/article/c0/a1555/>).

Botticelli to Tintoretto: Italian Renaissance Art from the Tobey and Bob Jones Collections". This exhibition charts the dizzying speed with which Italian Renaissance art developed between the late 15th and late 16th century. Mixtures of Christian subjects and humanist imagery drawn from antiquity are what one would expect from Renaissance art during this era. However, the style shifts rapidly, and artistic daring encouraged by artists, their patrons, and audiences manifest spatial and figural complexities well-represented in these works, as well as varieties in their format and media. Through July 31 - "Peter L. Schmunk: Photographs 2010 – 2020". A retrospective of the photographer's creative interests and projects over the past ten years, this exhibition explores the different forms a photograph may take and the ways that photographic images may communicate meaning. Document, vignette, souvenir, ephemeral record, visual poem, abstract sign—the images exhibited here play one or more of those roles. Schmunk's earliest efforts in photography were primarily dedicated to the subject of landscape, especially wild places, which he viewed from both panoramic and close-up perspectives. He continues to create images of that kind, as seen here in photographs of Looking Glass Rock in the Pisgah National Forest of North Carolina, all part of an extended project to document that site in comprehensive detail. Rosalind Sallenger Richardson Ongoing - Featuring the Cerise and Amber Persian Ceiling sculptures created by renowned American sculptor Dale Chihuly. Admission: Free. Hours: Tue, Wed, Fri. & Sat., 1-5pm; Thur., 1-9pm; and closed Sun. & Mon. Contact: call Laura Corbin at 864/597-4180, e-mail to (laura.corbin@wofford.edu) or at (www.wofford.edu).

Spartanburg Art Museum, Chapman Cultural Arts Center, 200 East St. John Street, Spartanburg. Main Gallery, Through May 10 - "all terrain". We think of landscapes as an external reality. Artists often refer to their internal landscapes as sources of inspiration. They are simultaneously external and internal and always fascinating, mysterious, potentially dangerous and intrinsically complex. The terrain explored in this exhibition accounts for our deep desire to be in, and apart from, the landscape. Participating artists include: Abe Abraham, Eilis Crean, Samantha Goss, Katie Kingery-Page, Eric Kunsman, Casey McGuire, Mark Schoon, Jane Szabo, and Erin Wiersma. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Sun., 1-5pm; and till 9pm on 3rd Thur. of each month. Closed on national holidays. Contact: 864/582-7616 or at (www.spartanburgartmuseum.org).

View of the "Threshold" exhibition

UPSTATE Gallery on Main, 172 E. Main Street, Spartanburg. Through May 2 - "Threshold," featuring works by Naomi J. Falk, Amy Sacksteder, and Brooks Harris Stevens. DUE TO COVID19 closings, this exhibit will be exhibited virtually via social media. Thematically united by the notion of borders and barricades, "Threshold" is composed of immersive, large-scale art works, including sculpture, wall-mounted installations, and fiber-based work. Using the concept of fences and barriers as visual metaphors to investigate the complex issues of social division, how do we find a balance between confined territory and collective community? Ongoing - The gallery is dedicated to contemporary and original exhibitions that include selections from the permanent collection by artists Andy Warhol, Jerry Uelsmann and Beatrice Riese. Hours: Tue.-Sat., noon-5pm or by appt. Contact: Jane Allen Nodine, director by e-mail at (Jnodine@uscupstate.edu), call 864/503-5838, or Mark Flowers, exhibits coordinator by e-mail at (Mflowers@uscupstate.edu), or call 864/503-5848.

On May 23rd and 24th. Through May 15 - "Southern Traditions," featuring over 30 new painting, presented online while the gallery is closed. A tradition is a custom passed down from generation to generation. We have cultural traditions and family traditions, and each contributes to a sense of practice and belonging. In the Southern US we have the traditions of Sunday suppers created from recipe cards handed down through the years. We sit on the porch and watch the sunset on a warm and humid evening. We comb the beaches looking for seashells and soak-in the sun while kayaking down the meandering marsh estuaries. In celebration of this, each artist has created works exploring their person family customs and the rituals we all share. We invite you to enjoy the new works and find a piece that reflects a beloved tradition you hold dear. You can view this show at this link (<https://www.flipsnack.com/WellsGal.../southern-traditions.html>). Ongoing - Featuring a selection of paintings, jewelry and sculptures of some of the Lowcountry's finest artists, Betty Anglin Smith, Shannon Smith, Jennifer Smith Rogers, George Pate, Glenn Harrington, Gary Gowans, Karen Larson Turner, Kim English, Felice Kilian, Grainger McKoy and Darrell Davis. City Art, 1224 Lincoln Street, Columbia. Art Supply Store will reopen 11am-3pm, Mon.-Sat. Through June 30 - Featuring an exhibit of paintings by Patton Blackwell. Blackwell's work is deeply rooted in her experience of her surroundings, and her desire to translate this experience to the canvas. Blackwell captures the essence of atmosphere and landscape in her use of color, action, and brush stroke. Infused with beauty and passion, Blackwell's paintings embody both the tangible and the intangible. From the lush green rolling fields and dense foliage of Camden, South Carolina, where her home and studio are located, to the streets of Rio de Janeiro during Carnival, to time spent on the Aegean Sea, Blackwell creates mosaics of swirling paint that radiate light and power, reflecting moments and spaces in time that are both active and meditative, universal and timeless. Referencing the works of such artists as Willem de Kooning, and Wassily Kandinsky, Blackwell's paintings recall the physicality and emotion of de Kooning's animated brushwork while evoking the spiritual resonance of Kandinsky's later work. Ongoing - Featuring works by Jane Aldridge, Jim Arendt, Randolph New Armstrong, Penny Baskin, Jo Dean Bauknight, Robbie Bell, Kimberly Betchman, Tarleton Blackwell, Angela Bradburn, Betty Bramlett, Joe Byrne, Carolita Cantrell, Kathy Casey, Anne Cunningham, Bob Doster, Gerard Erley, Claire Farrell, Amy Fichter, Tim Floyd, Michael Fowler, Teri Goddard, Harriet Goode, Vanessa Grubbs, Randy Hanna, Shelley Hehenberger, Mana Hewitt, David Kessler, Jan Kransberger, Robert Lyon, Rena MacQueen, Doug McAbee, Fred McElveen, Esther Melton, Max Miller, Lee A. Perspective Gallery, in Crickentree Shopping Center on Johnnie Dodds Blvd., Mount Pleasant. Ongoing - The Mount Pleasant Artists Guild has opened their first art gallery. The Guild has been considering for some time the possibility of opening a gallery to showcase the work of the many talented artists who create original artwork in an assortment of media. Perspective Gallery is in the former location of the Treasure Nest Art Gallery. A steering committee was brought together to formulate a plan and oversee the work required to create the gallery environment the guild had been seeking. Over 40 artists are currently exhibiting their lively, colorful work, in oils, watercolors, photography, mixed media and more. A wide range of styles is represented. It is the goal of the Mount Pleasant Artists Guild and the staff of Perspective to bring to the East Cooper area a truly high quality, diverse collection of artwork that will appeal to residents and visitors alike in a pleasant, inviting gallery setting. We are looking forward to working with individual art collectors and designers to find something truly unique and beautiful. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5pm. Asheville Area

Asheville Art Museum, 2 South Pack Square at Pack Place, Asheville. Appleby Foundation Exhibition Hall, Through May 25 - "Dancing Atoms: Barbara Morgan Photographs" and "Andy Warhol: Silver Clouds". "Barbara Morgan and Andy Warhol were clearly inspired by movement when they created these works," says Assistant Curator Hilary Schroeder who coordinated these exhibitions for the Museum. "Observing Morgan's photographs allows the viewer to envision the dance itself, while Warhol actively invites us to experience our own small dance as we traverse through the floating clouds." Explore Asheville Exhibition Hall, Through May 4 - "A Telling Instinct: John James Audubon & Contemporary Art," curated by Associate Curator Cindy Buckner, with the assistance of Marilyn Laufer, director emerita of the Jule Collins Smith Museum of Fine Art on the campus of Auburn University. A new exhibition highlighting the works of John James Audubon juxtaposed with the work of 21st-century artists who continue his tradition of animal allegories and metaphors. Ongoing - The Asheville Art Museum, the hub for 20th- and 21st-century American art in Western North Carolina, has re-opened to the public. The $24+ million, state-of-the-art facility encompasses 54,000 square feet and adds 70 percent more Collection gallery space. For the first time in the Museum's history, it has the capacity to host major traveling exhibitions from nationally recognized museums. The expansion increases its physical space and dramatically increases its role as a community center, educational resource, economic engine for WNC, and cultural concierge for the region's residents and visitors. Opening exhibitions include: "Appalachia Now! An Interdisciplinary Survey of Contemporary Art in Southern Appalachia," is the inaugural special exhibition of the newly renovated Museum. Curated by Jason Andrew, the juried exhibition features 50 artists of diverse backgrounds from the Southern Appalachian states of North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. The exhibit provides a regional snapshot of the art of our time—a collective survey of contemporary Southern Appalachian culture. "Intersections in American Art," is the largest presentation ever drawn from the Museum's Collection of 5,000+ works and 4,000+ architectural drawings. It celebrates the unique qualities of art from Western North Carolina, placed within the context of art from across the United States. The intersections of regional and national art are highlighted throughout the galleries, as are three specific ways of understanding the works here: Time & Place; Experiments in Materials & Form; and Collaboration & Interdisciplinary Dialogue. Admission: Yes. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Fri. till 8pm & Sun., 1-5pm. Contact: 828/253-3227 or at (www.ashevilleart.org).

Southern Highland Craft Guild at the Folk Art Center, Blue Ridge Parkway Milepost 382, Asheville. May 9, 10am-4pm - "Fiber Day". For over 30 years, felters, quilters, weavers, knitters, tatters, spinners, and many more fiber makers convene at Milepost 382 to share handmade skills with visitors on the Blue Ridge Parkway. Each year, Guild members and friends demonstrate a variety of techniques from 10am-4pm. This free community event invites visitors to get a close-up look at how fiber products are made and the stories of these makers. There will be several interactive demonstrations and learning activities for children of all ages. Main Gallery, Through May 10 - "The Power of Distinction," highlights works from our Permanent Collection, honoring the Guild's 90th Anniversary. Work from our 5,700-piece permanent collection will be on display. The oldest piece on display dates back AD 1000-1470. "Contemporary artists are still making traditional objects by hand using new techniques, skills, and materials. Their work is greatly influenced by twentieth-century art movements, formal education, and objects praised in modern galleries and museums. The SHCG's Permanent Collection is a visual record of this passage of time," says Nikki Joseff, curator. Permanent Collection Gallery, Ongoing - "Craft Traditions: The Southern Highland Craft Guild Collection". The Guild's Permanent Collection is comprised of approximately 2400 craft objects and dates from the late 19th century to present. Beginning with a donation from Frances Goodrich in 1931, the Permanent Collection serves the Guild's mission of craft conservation and education. This new installation will feature over 200 works that highlight our holdings in traditional art: woodcarving, pottery, dolls, basketry, weavings and furniture. The subject of this ongoing exhibition is craft history - that of the Southern Highland Craft Guild and the Studio Craft Movement. Focus Gallery, Through May 5 - "The Earth Provides," features selected works from five Guild Members covering a range of media: glass, clay, fiber, paper, and wood. Turchin Center for the Visual Arts, Appalachian State University, 423 West King Street, Boone. Main Gallery, Through June 6 - "Lián and Liàn" - An installation by Hui Chi Lee. People are by nature social beings. People need other people to survive, and as such they tend to perpetually seek social interactions. However, human relationships are inherently complex and multi-faceted. The ideology of the series, "Lián and Liàn", on view at the Turchin Center for the Visual Arts, begins with a pair of Chinese homophones "Lián and Liàn" that, depending on the context, mean either "to connect" or "to enchain." On one hand, the works portray the tensions and dynamics within human relationships; on the other, they explore how these same forces may constrict or enchain humans when negative forces come into play. While these works are in part a meditation on Taiwanese cultural traditions, they can be applied broadly to human experience itself. Gallery A & B, Through May 2 - "Faculty Biennial". A reception will be held on Mar. 6, from 6-10pm. It's not the kind of thing that happens every year, so when the Turchin Center for the Visual Arts offers the public a comprehensive glimpse into the ordinarily private, multidisciplinary studios of Appalachian State University's Art Department, it's always a cause for celebration. Hours: 10am-6pm, Tue., Wed., Thur., & Sat. and Fri., noon -8pm. Contact: Hank T. Foreman at 828/262-3017 or at (www.turchincenter.org).

Burnsville

Burnsville Gallery, Toe River Arts Council, 102 W. Main St., Burnsville. Toe River Arts June Studio Tour Canceled - After considering the input of studio tour participants, our staff, board of directors, and local health officials, for everyone's safety we have made the difficult decision to cancel the June Studio Tour. The current directive to slow the spread of COVID-19 requires our community to shelter in place until the end of April. Even if restrictions are lifted by June, there is no clear way to properly support the tour and its artists through advertising, community outreach events, and promotion. We are currently working as a staff to develop other ways to support our community of artists while our doors are closed, and also once we reopen. We are optimistic that we will get to see you again soon! Our winter tour is still scheduled for December 4-6. Thank you for your understanding and your recognition that sheltering in place is the most important action we can take as a community to keep each other safe. Thank you for your continued support. Ongoing - Featuring works by artists from Mitchell and Yancey Counties sponsored by the Toe River Arts Council. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 10am-5pm. Contact: 828/682-7215 or at (www.toeriverarts.org).

Bechtler Museum of Modern Art, Levine Center for the Arts, 420 South Tryon St., Charlotte. Fourth Floor Gallery, Through May 3 - "TEN". Since the Bechtler Museum of Modern Art opened our doors in 2010, we have hosted more than thirty modern art exhibitions. TEN features a selection of works from sixteen past fourth-floor exhibitions, all brought together to showcase the excellence and share the joy of the Bechtler collection as we look back at the past decade in celebration of our ten-year anniversary. Exhibitions featured include: School of Paris: Abstraction Post World War II, Niki de Saint Phalle: Creation of a New Mythology, Geometry and Experimentation: European Art of the 1960s and 1970s, Mid-Century Modernism: 1957 and The Bechtler Collection, Giacometti: Memory and Presence, Artistic Relationships: Partners, Mentors, Lovers, Modernism in Changing Times: Works from 1968, British Invasion, The Art Books of Henri Matisse, Sam Francis: Rapid Fluid Indivisible Vision, The House That Modernism Built, Bechtler Collection: Relunched and Rediscovered, Celebrating Jean Tinguely and Santana, Wrestling the Angel: A Century of Artists Reckoning With Religion, and Bechtler Unseen: Works from the 50s and 60s. Second Floor Gallery, Through July 6 - "Filled with Light: The Designs of the Bechtler Museum of Modern Art". In commemoration of its tenth anniversary, Filled with Light shares the lesser-known programmatic and design evolution of the Bechtler Museum of Modern Art. In 2000, Andreas Bechtler and his family began to explore a variety of approaches to fulfill the family wish of sharing their impeccable art collection highlighting the creative zeal of the best of 20th-century Modernism. Visitors see early designs for the museum as it was originally imagined at Mountain Island Lake before the museum became slated to become part of the Levine Center for the Arts in Uptown Charlotte. Never-before-seen architectural sketches, drawings, study photographs and plans illuminate the remarkable evolution of this powerful yet intimate building. The result is an architectural piece of art that is filled with light, engaging community spaces and home to Charlotte's largest private collection of Modern art since 2010. Ongoing - The Bechtler Museum of Modern Art is named after the family of Andreas Bechtler, a Charlotte resident and native of Switzerland who assembled and inherited a collection of more than 1,400 artworks created by major figures of 20th-century modernism and donated it to the public trust. The Bechtler collection comprises artworks by seminal figures such as Alberto Giacometti, Joan Miro, Jean Tinguely, Max Ernst, Andy Warhol, Alexander Calder, Le Corbusier, Sol LeWitt, Edgar Degas, Nicolas de Stael, Barbara Hepworth and Picasso. Only a handful of the artworks in the Bechtler collection have been on public view in the United States. Admission: Yes. Hours: Mon., Wed.-Sat., 10am-5pm; Sun. noon-5pm; and open until 9pm the 1st. and 3rd. Fri. of each month. Contact: 704/353-9200 or at (www.bechtler.org).

McColl Center for Art + Innovation, 721 North Tryon Street, Charlotte. First-floor Gallery, Through May 2 - "Adorned," creates a dynamic conversation between the work of two artists who are pushing media and mindset to explore real issues of contemporary life. McColl Center alumna artist Sharif Bey (2007) and artist Shanequa Gay find power in adornment—African-inspired masks, richly textured backgrounds, and large-scale clay and glass necklaces—to reclaim history, mark rites of passage, and explore contemporary life. The exhibition includes a site-specific installation by Gay, partially in response to the colossal and almost totemic glass and ceramic "adornments" created by Bey. "Adorned" is curated by visiting curator Jonell Logan for McColl Center for Art + Innovation. Hours: Thur.-Fri., 3-9pm & Sat., 11am-6pm. Contact: 704/332-5535 or at (www.mccollcenter.org).

Mint Museum Randolph, 2730 Randolph Road, Charlotte. Visit the Mint Museum at Home at (<https://mintmuseum.org/museum-from-home/>). Bridges and Levine Galleries, Ongoing - "Contemporary British Studio Ceramics: The Grainer Collection". Focused on the collection of Diane and Marc Grainer, this installation is a survey of contemporary British studio ceramics. Comprising functional and sculptural objects made between the 1980s and today, the show features work by artists either born or residing in Great Britain, including established "contemporary classics" like Gordon Baldwin and Rupert Spira, and cutting-edge ceramicists such as Julian Stair and Kate Malone. Several recently-gifted works from the Grainers are included. Alexander, Spangler, and Harris Galleries, Ongoing - "Portals to the Past: British Ceramics 1675 - 1825". The Mint Museum's collection of eighteenth-century British pottery and porcelain is widely respected for its scope and quality. The collection numbers over 2,000 objects and includes important examples of both salt-glazed and dry-bodied stoneware from Staffordshire; tin-glazed earthenware from Bristol, Liverpool, and London; and cream-colored earthenware from Derbyshire, Staffordshire, and Yorkshire. Notable eighteenth-century porcelain factories represented include Chelsea, Bow, and Vauxhall in London, Longton Hall in Staffordshire, Worcester, Bristol, and others. Individual works in the collection are exceptional because of their rarity, craftsmanship, provenance, or as representative examples of particular types or methods of production or decoration. Ongoing - "American Glass". The nineteenth and early twentieth centuries represented a time of extraordinary growth for the American glass industry. Such companies as Boston & Sandwich Glass Company in Sandwich, MA; Steuben Glass Works in Corning, NY; and Libbey Glass Company in Toledo, OH, began operation and soon developed notable reputations for producing fashionable wares that were coveted by many middle- and upper-class consumers. "American Glass" showcases objects by these and other American glass companies, illustrating the variety of forms and styles that prevailed during this period. Glass-manufacturing techniques will be another focus of the exhibition, with representative examples of pressed, cut, blown, and molded glass. Nearly all of the works on view are from The Mint Museum's permanent collection of glass, which is second in size only to the ceramics collection in the museum's Decorative Arts holdings. Ongoing - "Arts of Africa". The African continent is remarkable in its geographic, social, political, and cultural diversity. This impressive diversity is reflected in the visual arts through a variety of media and forms including ceramics, masks, textiles, sculptures, prestige staffs, and shrines. With exceptional loans from private collectors and The Mint Museum's own collection of African Art, the museum is pleased to announce the expansion of its presentation of Arts of Africa, thereby providing visitors a more in-depth, meaningful, and exciting overview of African art. Heritage Gallery, Ongoing - Feature works of art, archival documents, and photographs documenting the growth and evolution of the museum, from its beginnings as the original branch of the US Mint to its founding as an art museum to the present and beyond. Ongoing - "Art for the Millions: WPA Prints" and "Carolina Clay," featuring a display of colorful wares made between 1920 and 1950 as potters from NC adapted their works to a market economy. "Art of the United States," featuring contemporary works from the Mint's permanent collection, including works by Romare Bearden, Maud Gatewood, John Biggers, Juan Logan, Tarlton Blackwell, Radcliffe Bailey, Kojó Griffin, and others. "Art in the Americas," featuring paintings, precious metalwork, sculpture, furniture and decorative arts from the 17th through the 19th centuries illustrate the unique culture that emerged from the Spanish colonization of the Americas. Crosland Gallery - Featuring a presentation of portraits with many fascinating images presented. Rankin Gallery - Featuring a presentation of the Romare Bearden Collection, including two "new" Beardens. Delhom Gallery, Ongoing - The European Collection of ceramic works. Cullowhee

Fine Art Museum, Fine & Performing Arts Center, Western Carolina University, Cullowhee.

Through May 1 - "Curious Terrain: WNC from the Air". This new exhibition features aerial photographs that explore the relationship between humans and the WNC landscape. Taken by Alex S. MacLean, a renowned artist and pilot with over 45 years of experience photographing the land from the birds-eye perspective of an airplane, these newly commissioned images focus on the seven westernmost counties of North Carolina. Through May 1 - "Time and Again: Glass Works by Kit Paulson and SaraBeth Post". Funded in part by the Art Alliance for Contemporary Glass, the exhibition brings together two Penland-based artists—Kit Paulson and SaraBeth Post—whose works explore ideas about time, history, memory, and the antique. In many of their works, objects from the past are remade and reimagined in glass, creating a bridge between past and present. Both of the artists featured in "Time and Again" are active in the glass community in Western North Carolina. Paulson, who holds an MFA from Southern Illinois University and is in her second year of a three-year residency at Penland School of Craft, specializes in torchworked glass. Post has a degree in glass from the University of Louisville and is pursuing a two-year work-study opportunity as one of Penland's Core Fellows. She uses a casting technique to recreate childhood objects in glass. Through May 1 - "Claire Van Vliet: Stone and Sky". This new exhibition highlights landscape prints by Claire Van Vliet, a renowned printmaker and book artist. Between 1993 and 2010, Van Vliet completed several residencies at Harvey Littleton Studios in Spruce Pine, NC, where she experimented with the medium of vitreography, a form of printmaking that uses a glass plate to produce a printed image. Fascinated by rocks of all kinds, Van Vliet produced detailed images of rock formations from around the world, including Wind Cave in New Mexico, Kilclooney More in Ireland, and the Moeraki Coast in New Zealand. This exhibition brings together a selection of these vitreographs, drawn from the WCU Fine Art Museum's Permanent Collection, and provides a glimpse into the artist's creative process. The exhibition includes a rare opportunity to view one of the original glass plates used in the vitreograph printing process. Hours: Tue.- Fri., 10am-4pm & Sat., 1-4pm. Contact: 828/227-3591 or at (<https://www.wcu.edu/bardo-arts-center/fine-art-museum/>).

The Nasher Museum of Art, Duke University Central Campus, 2001 Campus Drive, Durham. Through May 27 - "Odili Donald Odita Murals". As part of Nasher10, a celebration of the first decade and beyond, the Nasher Museum commissioned two large-scale murals by abstract painter Odili Donald Odita. His wall painting inside the Nasher Museum's Mary D.B.T. Semans Great Hall, Shadow and Light (For Julian Francis Abele), is inspired by the African-American architect who designed most of Duke's campus. Odita's wall painting visually connects the Nasher Museum to downtown Durham, where he painted a second mural on the Foster Street wall of the Downtown Durham YMCA, 218 W. Morgan Street. Through July 12 - "Ebony G. Patterson . . . while the dew is still on the roses . . ." presents the work of artist Ebony G. Patterson, born in Jamaica in 1981. This is the most significant exhibition of the artist's work to date, presented within a new installation environment that evokes a night garden. Patterson is known for drawings, tapestries, videos, sculptures and installations that involve surfaces layered with flowers, glitter, lace and beads. Her work investigates forms of embellishment as they relate to youth culture within disenfranchised communities. Her neo-baroque works address violence, masculinity, "bling," visibility and invisibility within the post-colonial context of her native Kingston and within black youth culture globally. This exhibition focuses on the role that gardens have played in her practice, referenced as spaces of both beauty and burial, environments filled with fleeting aesthetics and mourning. Ongoing - Nasher Museum Café and Museum Shop. Admission: Yes, but free to Durham residents, courtesy of "The Herald-Sun" newspaper. Hours: Tue.- Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur. till 9pm; & Sun., noon-5pm. Contact: 919/684-5135 or at (www.nasher.duke.edu).

The Museum of the Southeast American Indian, Old Main (first floor) at the University of North Carolina Pembroke, 1 University Drive, Pembroke. Ongoing - As part of the Southeast American Indian Studies Program at UNC Pembroke, The Museum of the Southeast American Indian maximizes the capacity of the University to address the complex historical, cultural and contemporary issues facing American Indian communities in North Carolina and the American Southeast. The Museum's cross-disciplinary collaborations greatly enhance the University's programs of research, service, outreach and instruction. The Museum is a multi-faceted museum and resource for scholarly research and community outreach. While the Museum contains exhibits of authentic Indian artifacts, arts and crafts from Indian communities all over the Americas, our primary focus is on tribes from the American Southeast. Many items come from North Carolina Native communities, with special emphasis on Robeson County Indian people. Specific focus is placed on the largest North Carolina tribe, the Lumbee, but our outreach activities have extended into Virginia and South Carolina with plans for further outreach throughout the Southeast. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-5pm. We typically close for lunch from noon-1pm. Contact: call 910/521-6282 or e-mail to (nativemuseum@unpc.edu).

Gregg Museum of Art & Design, The Historic Chancellor's Residence, NC State University, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, Raleigh. Thomas E. Cabaniss Gallery in the Historic Residence, Through Sept. 6 - "All is Possible: Mary Ann Scherr's Legacy in Metal". With galleries temporarily closed to the public, the Gregg

Museum has created a virtual tour of Mary Ann Scherr's All is Possible at (https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu/exhibitions/all-is-possible/virtual-tour/). Descriptions of each display are available by clicking the blue bubbles. Links to online photo galleries are available in the orange bubbles. Once you click on the tour, you'll see an icon on the lower left that links to a highlight reel, and it will guide you through the gallery as it was designed. Enjoy! The exhibition is a tribute to a larger-than-life designer who influenced the metal and design communities for over 6 decades. The exhibition title communicates her zest for life, as well as the many creative possibilities she saw in metal design, leading to a decades-long career in the field. When Scherr (Akron, OH 1921- Raleigh, NC 2016) moved from New York City to Raleigh in 1989, she was already an internationally renowned designer who had chaired the first Crafts Department at Parsons School of Design in Manhattan, innovated metal-etching techniques, and pioneered jewelry and accessories that also functioned as body monitors. And yet, for the next 30 years, she strived to enrich the arts and life of her new community in North Carolina, where she taught for decades at Penland School of Crafts, Duke University, Meredith College and finally, NC State University Crafts Center. J. Norwood and Valeria C. Adams Gallery, Through May 17 - "Design by Time". From the Pratt Manhattan Gallery comes "Design by Time," an exhibition with work from 22 international designers portraying time and its dynamic effects on fashion, furniture, textiles, vessels, and more. Participation designers are: Atelier Mark Sturkenboom; Auger-Loizeau; Maarten Baas; BeatWoven; Sebastian Brajkovic; Hussein Chalayan; Edhv, Architects of Identity; Patrick Frey; Front; Glithero; Marlène Huissoud; Humans since 1982; William Lamson; Mathieu Lehanneur; mischer'traxler studio; Jacob Olmedo; Diana Scherer; Sebastian Cox Workshop; Bartholomäus Traubeck; Nicole Wermers; Jolan van der Wiel; and Ryan Mario Yasin. Randy and Susan Woodson Gallery, Through May 17 - "All That Glitters—Spark and Dazzle from the Permanent Collection." The fascination with shiny objects is nearly as old as the human race. Jewelry made of naturally glossy shells has been dated to nearly 135,000 years ago, while crystals of transparent quartz have been found in prehistoric burials, suggesting the allure they once held for their original owners. But the question is, why? Ongoing - Following its grand reopening on Aug. 26, 2017, one of NC State University's most historic buildings is now the permanent home of the Gregg Museum of Art & Design. The Historic Chancellor's Residence, located at 1903 Hillsborough Street, along with a 15,000 sq. ft. addition, increases the museum's visibility while significantly adding to its exhibition and programming space. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 9am-5pm. Contact: Zoe Starling, Curator of Education at 919/513-7244 or at (https://gregg.arts.ncsu.edu/).

North Carolina Museum of Art, 2110 Blue Ridge Road, Raleigh. Through Sept. 27 - "Bacchus Conservation Project: The Story of a Sculpture". The Statue of Bacchus, which has undergone extensive research since the 1960s when the North Carolina Museum of Art realized it was a patchwork of marble fragments, returns on view in special exhibition. The exhibition explores the history of the sculpture, the scientific investigation, the conservation process, and the making of its new arm. The exhibition also includes a series of related events, including a free Family Day, a scholarly panel, and a wine-tasting event. Through July 26 - "Christopher Holt: Contemporary Frescoes/Faith and Community". This exhibition features monumental drawings, intimate portraits, and studies by Asheville artist Christopher Holt for the Haywood Street Beatitudes fresco completed in September 2019. The fresco is the result of a two-year community project led by Holt with the Rev. Brian Combs, founder of the Haywood Street congregation in Asheville. Through July 26 - "Art in Translation: Araya Rasdjarmrearnsook". Recognized as one of the preeminent video artists of Southeast Asia, Rasdjarmrearnsook explores the connections and complications between Western art history and the cultural traditions of various Asian nations. Through July 5 - "Good as Gold: Fashioning Senegalese Women". The first major exhibition of Senegalese gold jewelry to date that focuses on the history of Senegal's gold, from past to present, and the beauty and complexity of the way Senegalese women use ornament and fashion to present themselves. A key theme of the exhibition is the Senegalese concept of sañse (a Wolof word for dressing up or looking and feeling good). Good as Gold explores how a woman in a city like Dakar might use a piece of gold jewelry to build a carefully tailored, elegant fashion ensemble. Good as Gold: Fashioning Senegalese Women is organized by Kevin D. Dumouchelle of the National Museum of African Art, Smithsonian Institution. It is curated by Amanda Maples of the North Carolina Museum of Art. Through July 5 - "Leonardo Drew". This two-part project by contemporary artist Leonardo Drew features a monumental outdoor sculpture, City in the Grass, along with a gallery exhibition that provides a more in-depth look at his diverse body of work. Using a variety of materials—wood, cotton, canvas, paper, steel, aluminum, sand—Drew makes dynamic sculptures that explode and expand into their spaces. These gravity-defying sculptures convey a feeling of barely contained or restrained energy and chaos. Leonardo Drew: Making Chaos Legible is made possible, in part, by the generous support of the Hartfield Foundation and Libby and Lee Buck. East Building, Level B, Joyce W. Pope Gallery, Through July 26 - "Front Burner: Highlights in Contemporary North Carolina Painting". Organized by guest curator Ashlynn Browning in collaboration with the North Carolina Museum of Art. Throughout modern art history, painting has been declared dead and later resuscitated so many times that the issue now tends to fall on deaf ears. Despite any debate over painting's viability, artists continue to persevere in keeping the medium fresh and new. Currently painting is enjoying a revival in the art world, and innovative North Carolina artists are helping to maintain its vibrant place on the front burner. Participating artists include: Brett Baker, Raleigh, Cynthia Bickley-Green, Greenville. Maria Britton, Carrboro, Mark Brown, Chapel Hill, Ashlynn Browning, Raleigh, Luke Miller Buchanan, Raleigh, Martha Clippinger, Durham, Hannah Cole, Asheville, Celia Johnson, Chapel Hill, Benjamin Knight, Deep Run, Ashley Lathe, Charlotte, Georges Le Chevallier, Garner, Juan Logan, Belmont, Gerry Lynch, Apex, Donald Martiny, Chapel Hill, Mario Marzan, Chapel Hill, George McKim, Raleigh, Bonnie Melton, Durham, Katy Mixon, Chapel Hill, Carmen Neely, Charlotte, Shaun Richards, Raleigh, Barbara Campbell Thomas, Climax, William Paul Thomas, Durham, Lien Truong, Chapel Hill, and Antoine Williams, Greensboro. NCMA Park - The North Carolina Museum of Art (NCMA) announces new works of art to be installed in the 164-acre NCMA Park. The works include a bronze tree by Italian artist Giuseppe Penone, a playful pair of benches designed by Hank Willis Thomas, and a 10-day installation of 23-foot-tall illuminated rabbits by Australian artist Amanda Parer. The sculptures will be featured at the NCMA's Park Celebration on Nov. 6, when the public is invited to experience the newly expanded Park with a variety of outdoor activities. Ongoing - Featuring 10 additional sculptures by the celebrated French artist Rodin on loan from Iris Cantor's private collection. Ongoing - "John James Audubon's The Birds of America". The state has owned this treasured volume since 1848, but it has never been exhibited. Ongoing - The North Carolina Museum of Art has an outstanding permanent collection of more than 5,000 objects spanning antiquity to the present day. On the occasion of the expansion, the Museum has acquired more than 100 new works of art. Representing commissions, gifts, and purchases, the new works encompass important and diverse examples of historic and contemporary art from around the world, and will be installed in the Museum's new building and the surrounding landscape. Highlights include a gift of 28 sculptures by Auguste Rodin, and work by such internationally acclaimed artists as Roxy Paine, Ursula von Rydingsvard, El Anatsui, Jaume Plensa, Jackie Ferrara, Ellsworth Kelly, and David Park, among others. Admission: Yes for some exhibits. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 9am-5pm; Sun., 10am-5pm; & open until 9pm on Fri. Contact: 919/839-6262 or at (www.ncartmuseum.org).

North Carolina Museum of History, 5 East Edenton Street, (between Salisbury and Wilmington Streets), Raleigh. Through Jan. 3, 2021 - "You Have to Start a Thing." The year 2020 marks the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment to the United States Constitution and a century of voting rights for women. The exhibition explores how Tar Heel women and men fought for—and against—woman suffrage in the decades leading up to 1920. It also chronicles the ongoing struggle to ensure voting rights for North Carolinians of color and the (slow) entry of women into positions of political power in our state. Ongoing - Featuring exhibits dealing with North Carolina's history as a theme. Sweet Tea & Cornbread Grill and Eatery, located on the R Level, open Mon.-Sat., from 11am to 3pm. Download the full menu at (https://files.nc.gov/dncr-moh/Sweet%20Tea%20and%20Cornbread_MENU%202019.pdf). Salisbury/Spencer

Waterworks Visual Arts Center, 123 E. Liberty St., Salisbury. Through May 16 - "Creative Habitats", featuring exhibits by Lorraine Turi, Alix Hitchcock, and Adam Wensil. Norvell Gallery - "Last Seen," featuring works by Lorraine Turi, is a collection of photographs that have been taken at the last place a species was seen in the wild before going extinct. Through extensive research lists of extinct species have been translated into visual context in order to create a photographic reference. Some of the research has led to re-tracing the footsteps of explorers who witnessed and documented the decline and destruction of a particular species. The images in Last Seen serve as a memorial. The photographs themselves are data made visible, a visceral connection between the lost species and humanity. Osborne and Woodson Galleries - "Natural Interactions - new works on paper by Alix Hitchcock". Hitchcock's current colorful works on paper are one-of-a-kind gelatin monotype prints with themes of humans and animals and their relationship to each other and their natural environment. The pieces' abstracted environments use a silhouette format so that the images create layers of transparency, ambiguous spatial relationships, and recognizable, but still mysterious forms—leading to colorful, movement-filled compositions, which may have an undertone of danger or anticipation. Stanback Gallery Hall and YPG Gallery - "The Gilda House: The Creation of Visionary Artist, Adam Wensil". The GH has a dynamic, amazing story to be followed, but it is too long for today's introduction. Basically, it is the story of 5 unique individuals and their loving pets who choose to share life together in the OFF KILTER world of GH. GH is Pop Art, with Architecture and furnishings inspired by Corbusier, and is Raphaelite in its rich colors. It is constructed from items given to me by strangers and friends. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-5pm; Thur. till 7pm & Sat., 11am-3pm. Contact: 704/636-1882 or at (www.waterworks.org).

Seagrove Area

Carolina Bronze Sculpture Garden, Carolina Bronze, 6108 Maple Springs Road, Seagrove. Ongoing - The Carolina Bronze Sculpture Garden is a natural and landscaped area overlooking a beautiful 1.25 acre pond. A walking trail loops around the pond with benches and a picnic area along the trail. The Sculpture Garden collection consists of donated and loaned sculptures from emerging and established artists working in all 3D media suitable for the outdoors. There are currently 19 sculptures installed around the pond. The landscaped and natural areas have a focus on NC native plants and trees. As an extension of this park, a sculpture is installed in the downtown area of Seagrove. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 8:30am-4pm. Contact: 336/873-8291 or at (www.cbsculpturegarden.com).

Seagrove Area Pottery Center (Not the NC Pottery Center), 122 E. Main St., Seagrove. Ongoing - The former museum organization was founded twenty-five years ago in Seagrove, and is dedicated to preserving and perpetuating the pottery tradition. We strive to impart to new generations the history of traditional pottery and an appreciation for its simple and elegant beauty. A display of area pottery is now offered in the old Seagrove grocery building. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9:30am-3:30pm. Contact: 336/873-7887.

North Carolina Pottery Center, 233 East Avenue, Seagrove. Through June 20 - "NC Wood-Fired: Then & Now". Wood-firing is arguably the most revered and evocative of all pottery traditions. This show pays homage to North Carolina's rich centuries-old tradition of wood-fired pottery. The exhibition showcases some great historic pieces from different regions and traditions within the state and places them in proximity to wonderful examples of more recent and contemporary pieces being made today. This juxtaposition allows the viewer to visually explore sometimes their similarities, sometimes their differences, and sometimes the similarities in their differences. This is a broad survey of NC wood-fired pottery. Some contemporary pieces will be available for purchase. Purchased pieces must remain in the show until it ends. Ongoing - Featuring permanent and changing exhibits on the history of North Carolina pottery, "The North Carolina Pottery Tradition" and "Seagrove Area Pottery". The Center also offers information on activities, maps and information about the potteries located in the Seagrove area and across the state. A display of representative works from more than 90 area potteries is also offered. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact 336/873-8430 or at (www.ncpotterycenter.org).

Spruce Pine

TRAC Arts Center, Toe River Arts Council, 269 Oak Avenue, Spruce Pine. Toe River Arts June Studio Tour Canceled - After considering the input of studio tour participants, our staff, board of directors, and local health officials, for everyone's safety we have made the difficult decision to cancel the June Studio Tour. The current directive to slow the spread of COVID-19 requires our community to shelter in place until the end of April. Even if restrictions are lifted by June, there is no clear way to properly support the tour and its artists through advertising, community outreach events, and promotion. We are currently working as a staff to develop other ways to support our community of artists while our doors are closed, and also once we reopen. We are optimistic that we will get to see you again soon! Our winter tour is still scheduled for December 4-6. Thank you for your understanding and your recognition that sheltering in place is the most important action we can take as a community to keep each other safe. Thank you for your continued support. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10:30am-5pm. Contact: 828/682-7215 or at (www.toeriverarts.org).
