Gallery 235 at the Rubenstein Arts Center at Duke University, 2020 Campus Drive, Durham. Through June 30 - "Portraits of North Carolina's Millennial Traditional Artists". A reception will be held on May 30, from 6-8pm. Young creatives around North Carolina are making their mark on our state's longstanding - and its newest - cultural traditions. Meet the rising generation of Piedmont-area artists and entrepreneurs in this collection of documentary portraits resulting from a collaboration between the North Carolina Arts Council, Duke Arts, and the Rubenstein Arts Center. In 2015, the NC Arts Council Folklife Program began surveying artists under the age of forty whose work comes from deep cultural roots and community connections. Through conversations and questions posed to artists across the state, the arts council sought to 1) gain a better understanding of how its programs can best support them and 2) publish a directory of this transformative talent. A key finding revealed that many of these creatives do not have high-quality photography of themselves. This spring, student photographers from Duke University, UNC Chapel Hill and volunteer professionals helped solve this problem. This special exhibition debuts these collaborative portraits. Hours: Mon.-Fri., 10am-8pm & Sat.-Sun., 1-6pm. Contact: 919/660-1700 or e-mail to (artscenter@duke.edu).

The Nasher Museum of Art, Duke University Central Campus, 2001 Campus Drive, Durham. Through June 2 - "All the Pop". Pop art originated in the 1950s and spread around the world in the 1960s. Inspired by mass media and popular culture, artists implemented vivid colors, graphic designs and text both to appeal broadly to viewers and to address significant issues of the day. This installation includes international Pop art from the Nasher Museum's collection, as well as later works influenced by Pop and its wry critiques of politics and material consumption. As a complement to "Pop América, 1965 - 1975". Through July 28 - "Odili Donald Odita Murals". As part of Nasher10, a celebration of the first decade and beyond, the Nasher Museum commissioned two large-scale murals by abstract painter Odili Donald Odita. His wall painting inside the Nasher Museum's Mary D.B.T. Semans Great Hall, Shadow and Light (For Julian Francis Abele), is inspired by the African-American architect who designed most of Duke's campus. Odita's wall painting visually connects the Nasher Museum to downtown Durham, where he painted a second mural on the Foster Street wall of the Downtown Durham YMCA, 218 W. Morgan Street. That painting, entitled Time Bridge, was inspired by the city of Durham, which is, according to the artist, "a city that has an awareness of the complexity of its individual interests, and at the same time is open to allow those interests to thrive together as a community." Time Bridge is a temporary exhibition, on view through summer 2019. Through July 21 - "Pop América, 1965-1975". Despite the wide appeal of Pop art's engaging imagery, the broader public remains unaware of the participation and significant contribution of Latin American and Latino/a artists working at the same time and alongside their U.S. and European counterparts. The Nasher Museum presents "Pop América, 1965-1975", the first exhibition with a hemispheric vision of Pop. The exhibition will make a timely and critical contribution to a more complete understanding of this artistic period. Ongoing - Nasher Museum Café and Museum Shop. Admission: Yes, but free to Durham residents, courtesy of "The Herald-Sun" newspaper. Hours: Tue.- Sat., 10am-5pm; Thur. till 9pm; & Sun., noon-5pm.
