He creates surrealist art, and is an art instructor at Carolina Piedmont Community College. Lexington, NC-born Marcus Hamilton has been illustrating the nationally-syndicated daily "Dennis the Menace" cartoon panel from his studio in Mint Hill, for the past 27 years. The oldest of five by her working-class Puerto Rican and Cuban parents, Natacha Sochat was born in New York City, and currently resides in Raleigh, NC. Works from "Collecting With A Passion" exhibit

North Carolina Pottery Center, 233 East Avenue, Seagrove. Through Aug. 21 - "Collecting With A Passion". Love for North Carolina pottery is infectious, but in a good way. It often starts with the purchase of just a single piece. But like that popular brand of potato chips, it's hard to stop with just one. There's just something special about North Carolina pottery and the stories behind the people that make it. For some of us, collecting NC pottery (whether it be old or new) and learning those stories becomes a bit of an obsession - a passion, even. "Collecting With A Passion" features seven wonderful pieces from the collection of the late Edna "Bunny" Andrews Schroeder that are now part of the center's permanent collection, forty-six great pieces on loan from the estate of the late Earl Paul Senger, and one special piece from the collection of an anonymous collector. Aug. 28 - Dec. 18 - "hyalyn: AMERICA'S FINEST PORCELAIN". Known for its potters and potteries, North Carolina has hosted traditional artisans who made utilitarian jugs, crocks, and churns, unschooled "fancyware" potters who made colorful and sometimes highly decorated objects, and fine art ceramists. All of this is well known. Less known is the history of Hickory's Hyalyn Porcelain Company where porcelain clay was slip cast into all sorts of adeptly designed wares. Founded by H. Leslie Moody and Frances Johnson Moody in 1945, Hyalyn Porcelain Company produced the work of notable designers like Eva Zeisel, Michael and Rosemary Lax, Georges Briard, Esta Brodey, Erwin Kalla, Herbert Cohen, and Rookwood's Wilhelmine Rehm. Ongoing - Featuring permanent and changing exhibits on the history of North Carolina pottery, "The North Carolina Pottery Tradition" and "Seagrove Area Pottery". The Center also offers information on activities, maps and information about the potteries located in the Seagrove area and across the state. A display of representative works from more than 90 area potteries is also offered. Hours: Tue.-Sat., 10am-4pm. Contact 336/873-8430 or at (www.ncpotterycenter.org).
