Clemson University in Clemson, SC, Features Works by Terry Jarrard-Dimond

Clemson University in Clemson, SC, is presenting Textile Narratives, featuring works by Master of Fine Arts alumna, Terry Jarrard-Dimond, '79, on view in the Brooks Center for the Performing Arts Lobby, through Dec. 16, 2021. There will be a gallery talk with Terry Jarrard-Dimond on Sept. 28, beginning at 6pm, followed by a reception. Admission to the exhibition, artist talk, and reception is free.

The artworks in this exhibition showcase Jarrard-Dimond's collection of large-scale geometric compositions using hand-dyed, contemporary textiles.

Jarrard-Dimond's work has been featured by the Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, SC, and she has artwork in the SC State Art Collection in Columbia, SC. She took part in the South Carolina Arts Commission's 50th Anniversary Exhibition program and received the commission's Visual and Craft Fellowship award.

Jarrard-Dimond says that exploration and manipulation are her favorite words when in the studio. The artist states: "I work through process exploring a variety of mediums and appreciate that each medium has unique qualities for the development of ideas. The work develops as I incorporate the marks, shapes, textures and layers that are the foundation of my work. These elements come together to express my ideas, concerns and stories."

Jarrard-Dimond continues, "All living things leave physical evidence of their existence. This evidence is generated by the activities each performs which can range from the monumental to the minute. My work is my evidence. It represents my passion for art and my time in the studio. My desire is that this "evidence" be interpreted and enjoyed thus creating an opportunity for interaction and connection."
